IN THE BEE TO-DAY

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau.
Toledo, O., Aug. 31, 1892.

The storm central over the "Soo" has moved eastward and is now central northeast of Georgian bay. During its passage over the lakes it caused rains, and winds from 25 to 50 miles per hour. This storm will pass out over the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The low area of pressure in the extreme northwest has remained nearly stationary, owing to the high east of it.

The area of high barometric pressure covers the entire country between the Rocky mountains and the lake region, and from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico. This high pressure area will dominate the weather over the country it covers and the eastern states.

The temperature has fallen 10 to 20 degrees over the entire lake region, Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys. The temperature has risen from 5 to 10 degrees over North and South Dakota, northern Minnesota, Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska. Elsewhere it has remained nearly stationary.

During the past 24 hours light rains have fallen over the entire lake region, along the Atlantic and gulf coasts and over Minnesota.

From the lakes westward the weather is and will remain fair. Rains will occur over the upper lakes, New England and eastern states.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity—On Wednesday, fair, cooler; on Thursday, fair, slowly rising temperature.

Stopped—the progress of Consumption. The best authorities agree that it's a scrofulous affection of the lungs. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will effect a cure. Thousands have been saved by it—thousands more are putting it off till too late. For every form of Scrofula, Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections, Weak Lungs, Severe Coughs, and kindred ailments, it is a positive remedy. It's guaranteed to do all that's claimed for it. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, your money is returned.

The "Discovery" is the only Liver, Blood and Lung Remedy that's sold so. Think what a medicine it must be!

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Salt-rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

Don't think it's like the sarsaparillas. They claim to be good for the blood in March, April, and May. "Golden Medical Discovery" works equally well at all seasons.

JUST LIKE DOGS,

American and English Sailors Were Treated

By An Armed Russian Cruiser.

Made to Sign Documents Against Their Will,

Under Threats of Being Sent to Siberia.

Shameful Treatment of the Men After Being Taken Prisoners—An International Question of Gigantic Proportions.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 31.—The American bark Majestic, from Petropaulovski, reached here last evening, having aboard the captains and crews of the four sealing schooners Rosie, Olsen, Ariel and Willie McGowan, flying the British flag, and the American schooner, C. H. White, of San Francisco.

These four were sealing off Copper islands, between 40 and 50 miles, during the latter part of July, when the Russian warship Sabraka, mounting 16 guns, and the Fur company's steamer Kodiak, bearing the governor of Berings island, rounded them up one by one, sent the schooners to be sold at Petropaulovski, and made the captain and crew prisoners.

The former objected to the seizure, claiming they were free men on free waters, whereupon the marines pricked them with the points of their bayonets and informed them there was such a place as Siberia for those who spoke too loudly of freedom.

Both the British and American skippers recognized that it was no time for talking. Still they ventured to protest that they were outside the three-mile limit and were met with the astounding information from the officers of the Sabraka: "Russia is sovereign over the water a thousand miles from her shores."

The captain of the Russian cruiser based his action on the ground that Russia exercised jurisdiction over all land and water westward of the line of demarcation.

After being taken aboard the Sabraka, the master of each schooner was ordered to sign a paper, written in Russian and explained by the interpreter, as an acknowledgement that he had been sealing in Russian waters. The skippers protested and were told that those who did not sign would be sent to Vladivostock to be court martialed and then sent to the Siberian mines.

Under compulsion the captains signed, and they and the crews then underwent a taste of Russian prison life, twenty-one men being kept for days in a room 11 feet by 11, with a leaky roof and broken floor.

The men were finally turned out on the beach, and, the Majestic coming that way, a contract was entered into for transportation to American or British soil and in the evening the prisoners were shipped away on board, no particular effort being made by the guards to detain them.

The Majestic sailed at night, and next morning the Sabraka started out on another hunting cruise, the schooners being the game sought.

MAKING SLOW WORK.

Carnegie's Mills Meet With Many Accidents.

Hugh O'Donnell's Case—Wholesale Arrests Have Been Planned by the Millionaire.

Pittsburg, Aug. 31.—Hugh O'Donnell, the Homestead leader, was put under bail this morning to answer to charges of conspiracy and aggravated riot. He waived a hearing on the charge of riot and gave bail for a hearing. The information was sworn out by the Carnegie Steel company. Mr. O'Donnell was the only striker who was placed under bonds.

The hearing will take place Thursday. Mr. O'Donnell said there were no new developments in the strike. Wholesale arrests are expected this week. One of the spies employed to watch the Homestead strikers says that 44 informations have been made. He asserts that papers in 108 other cases have been prepared.

Secretary Lovejoy did not deny the above as a statement of facts, but he made the figures larger. He said no more informations would be made this week. Thus far there have been considerably more than 100 warrants issued. He would not give the exact number. "How many persons for whom you have warrants have left Homestead?"

"We cannot say exactly but I do not believe more than a half dozen. I cannot tell how many informations will be made, nor can I say how many informations will be sworn out next week. That matter is almost wholly in the hands of our attorneys. They have the list of persons liable to charges and when they have examined the evidence the suits will be entered. I can tell you, however, that a good many informations will be made. The attorneys have a list of 800 to choose from and we have evidence against all."

Three of the most important departments of Carnegie's Thirty-third street mill are idle on account of several breakages in rolls and shafting. Two departments are only in operation. The furnaces in the mill are also reported in very bad condition, having "raised" bottoms to such an extent that the cinder runs out over the foreplates on the stands. It is also said that several of the non-union men who went home to spend Sunday failed to return to work Monday. They were mostly skilled men and their absence has greatly crippled the working force in the mill. Five of the workmen deserted last night and have pledged themselves to the strikers not to return.

In the Twenty-ninth street mill, the bumper department was the only part of the works in which work was being done yesterday.

TROUBLE OVER.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—Supt. Crouch, of the Air Line yards at East St. Louis this morning said that there would be no strike among his men, several of the switchmen were discontented and quit work. Union men were hired in their places and switching is going on as usual.

HARRY KERNELL.

Claimed That He is as Much a Comedian as Ever.

New York, Aug. 31.—Harry Kernell reappeared on the stage at Tony Pastor's last night and from the manner in which he was received by the audience it was plain that his singing and dancing were as good as ever.

It now transpires that the real reason for Harry's poor showing on Monday was not on account of sickness, but is attributed to the fact that his brother, John Kernell, now on the road, had carried off his music and the orchestra was not familiar with it.

It played the chorus when it should have payed the music of the verses and Kernell left the stage in disgust. The managers and other employes at Pastor's theater say Kernell is as good as he ever was.

RUBBER TRUST.

It Has Been Formed on a Gigantic Plan.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 31.—A big combination of the rubber interests of the country is announced. The new trust will be known as the New York Belting and Packing company, the Chicago Rubber company, and the Cleveland Rubber company.

The trust embraces fifteen factories and will control the markets of the world. L. K. McClymonds, of this city, was elected president, it is said, and will leave for New York to-day to take up his permanent residence there.

STREET CAR TROUBLES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 31.—The brotherhood of Street Railroad Employes went into special session at 1 o'clock this morning, the session having been called with the avowed purpose of declaring a strike.

As the organization embraces fully 90 per cent. of the car service men, a strike, if declared, will result in a complete tie-up of all the lines.

The grievance is the discharge of three conductors without trials.

IN MUCH DISTRESS.

Republican Woodsdale Picnic a Failure.

The Great League of Clubs Forced to Ask the State Committee to Help It Out.

Dayton, O., Aug. 31.—There are indications that the movers of the Ohio republican league demonstration at Woodsdale island on September 10 are in exactly the same position as the man who caught the grizzly bear by the tail.

They have been howling for some one to assist them in letting go of the confounded brute.

"Why, these fellows have had the cheek to ask the state committee to help them out of their predicament," said a visiting statesman from the capital last week. "At the outset they coolly took possession of the campaign and totally ignored the regular officers of the state executive committee. That's when they grabbed hold of the bear. Last week it came to the knowledge of Major Dick that the committee in charge of the outing had been forced to admit that heir galaxy of speakers would be short of a few stars of the first magnitude.

"In fact there was nothing left but a few measly third-rate satellites who couldn't hold a crowd away from a chuck-a-luck table at a fair. Now they are appealing for assistance. They call it working harmoniously together, but it resembles the story of the man who kept his wife humbled and docile by doing everything she bade him.

There is a haunting fear that the biggest elephant of the show, Hon. Whitelaw Reid will not be on hand. He has given a promise that he will attend if nothing unforseen of an imperative nature arises to prevent. What he meant was "May be." Without the winsome Whitelaw, what would the whole shooting match be worth? Major Dick has been summoned to Cincinnati on business connected with the show. It would not be at all surprising to see the committee, Col. W. H. Chase and Oil Inspector Henry W. Gardner, surrender their jobs and turn the thing over to the state committee.

Another indication that the league has taken in its mouth more than it can masticate is the abandoning of the publication of the Wasp, a paper that was to raise hades from Beersheba to the mountains of Hepsidam. The officers made arrangements with H. L. Wilhelm, a well-known journalist, to publish the sheet, and through a friend it has been ascertained that they have failed to carry out the agreement.

SENT TO JAIL.

Twenty-six Rioters Locked Up in Tennessee.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 31.—Twenty-six prisoners were brought here last night under military guard from Coal Creek. They have been held by Justice Kincaid as participants in the Coal Creek riots.

They could not give bonds and were brought to jail here for safe keeping. The opinion grows that it will be difficult to convict anyone in Anderson county.

THE CURSE OF DRINK.

Connecticut Prohibitionists in Session.

A Strong Speech by Chairman Forbes on Opening the Deliberation.

Hartford, Ct., Aug. 31.—Chairman Forbes called the prohibition convention to order this morning and addressed the delegates after offering thanks to the Almighty for the energy of principle which called the convention in the interest of good government, and after severely denouncing the rum power of the nation in no measured terms, said:

"The limits assigned me will not permit me to enlarge upon the damage inflicted upon the nation by the traffic in and use of intoxicating drinks.

"Our crowded alms houses, penitentiaries and eleemosynary institutions are occupied largely by those who have suffered directly or indirectly by the drink curse.

"Drunkenness and crime are increasing at a rate outrunning the rate of increase of population.

"A thousand millions of our national resources are annually worse than wasted by the curse of our civilization. But this is not the chief damage. The manhood of the nation is going down before it.

"Statesmen stoop to parley with it. For more than a quarter of a century the republican party has accepted taxes from it and in return has granted it national protection.

"I am glad to say that here and there in spots, both republicans and democrats have honestly tried to break the power of this enemy of the human race. We are a prohibition party and we announce as the central principle of our political faith this:

"We believe that the drink traffic is the greatest foe of our civilization and we believe that it can be and God helping us, it shall be overthrown. This is our answer to the question, what are we going to do about it? Whatever may be said of sundry local doings of both the old parties, in their national capacity they both stand for the saloon and one will pay just as much for the saloon vote as the other, if it happens to have the money."

WAS A STOCK DEAL.

New York, Aug. 31.—Robert Goelet, who was elected director of the New England road yesterday, states to his friends that his name was used without his authority and that he does not intend to serve. The belief prevails upon the exchange that traders arranged the entire matter in order to help them in a movement to squeeze the shorts on the stock.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S CASE

The State Thinks it Has Scored a Point.

Late Evidence in the Sensational Trial.

The Young Woman as Confident as Ever That Her Innocence Will be Established.

Fall River, Aug. 31.—Two things have been demonstrated by the evidence in the Borden case: one that Lizzie was in her stepmother's room at 9:30 and that was about the time of the murder, and that she was in her father's room about the time of his death.

It is understood that while to the general public the testimony of Prof. Wood was favorable to Lizzie because it appeared to be demonstrated that there was no blood stains on the clothes or hatchet, that it was really against her, because of the evidence in regard to the time of death.

It has been established by the state that Lizzie was about the room at or near the times referred to above and that these times and the exact time of death are almost identical. If the testimony of Mrs. Regan is put in relative to a quarrel between the sisters, and it proves to be as has been stated, then the state will feel quite certain that there is no flaw in its chain.

The first witness Tuesday afternoon was Annie M. White, official stenographer, who said she was present at the inquest and took notes of the whole examination. Her notes as written out were offered in evidence.

Cross-examined, she said that when Miss Borden was examined there were others present, but she could not tell who were there especially; there was one stranger whom she did not know. The statements of Miss Borden were taken down by her when all the people were present; those present whom she knew were the judge, district attorney, Mr. Seaver, Marshal Hilliard and Dr. Dolan. The examination of Miss Borden was suspended at one time because other witnesses were examined between times. During the time the examination was suspended witness said Miss Borden, Mrs. Brigham, Officer Harrington and she were left alone in the court room while the others went out of the room; thought Mr. Knowlton went into the judge's room; Miss Borden was there on two days and her examination continued all the afternoon at one time and the next time about, or less than an hour. The date of her last examination was August 11.

Witness corrected herself and said Miss Lizzie was before the court at the inquest on three days; the district attorney conducted the examination.

At this point Mr. Adams said he was willing to have this testimony admitted, but if statements were made which we regard as unimportant or to which we would have objected had we been present, we shall object to its admission.

The district attorney asked if witness recalled the fact that when the examination was suspended it was because he had been called to consult with the attorney-general, but witness, while she heard that the attorney-general had been present and gone away, could not connect the going away with this fact.

The examination of Lizzie Borden at the inquest was then read. Lizzie stated substantially that she was 32 years old; that her father had been married to her stepmother about 27 years; she had no idea of what her father was worth and only knew about part of her father's real estate.

Here Mr. Adams objected to the reading of the testimony on the ground that it was immaterial, going on the broad ground of what is a declaration against her interests.

The court thought it might be competent if not exactly material. The issue is not that she killed or caused to be killed her father. The court overruled the objection and the reading proceeded.

Miss Borden said her father gave the girls the house on Ferry street and a few weeks ago he bought it back again, paying Emma and her separately. Lizzie had heard Mr. Morse say several years ago that her father had made a will; her father never said anything about a will. Father once, about two weeks ago, had trouble with a man whom I did not know; they had some talk and I heard the man say, "I thought a man with a reputation for getting money like you would accept my offer." My father said he had stayed long enough and requested him to get out, and he went away saying he would consult his partner. Lizzie had some trouble with her step-mother about five years ago, but it was trivial. In some ways her relation with her step-mother were not as between mother and daughter.

It is the general opinion that to-day will close the testimony in the Borden case. Court came in at 10 o'clock, but Lizzie and her counsel were not in their seats, and it was not until 10 minutes later that Lizzie appeared, on the arm of Rev. Mr. Jubb, bearing upon her face the same look of stoical indifference which has characterized her appearance heretofore in general.

The first witness called was Marshal Rufus B. Hilliard, who said that his attention was called to the murder at 11:15, August 4. He sent Officer George W. Allen to the house and did not go himself until 2:30 or 3 o'clock. The next officer sent was Doherty, then Mullaly, Medley, Gillon, Wilson and others he could not remember.

When witness went at 3 o'clock he went with some men to search the barn and yards in that vicinity, but knew nothing about the matter only what he had been told by Medley and Fleet, and he thought Reilly.

Medley is not in town now, but has been sent to look after evidence that Rev. Mr. Buck placed in his hands, following out some supposed clue in connection with this murder, but witness declined to state what.

When he arrived there he went to the back yard where the lumber was; a thorough examination was made of the hay in the barn; went into the back yard where the lumber was; by the Chagnon fence, and looked over into the Chagnon property and also into the Crowe and Kelly yards and then to the vault; then to the barn, where they were overhauling the hay; then to the lower part of the barn, where they were examining about the carriages; searched the stalls on the north of the barn and under the stairway, in fact, all down stairs; then sent officers to search other yards and witness went into the house. Saw no other officer in the house. (This was about 4 o'clock.) Saw Drs. Dolan, Coughlin, Peckham, Dutra, and Tourtellett, but was not positive whether Dr. Bowen was there or not; they were then in the room where Mr. Borden's body lay and were in consultation; spoke to Dr. Dolan about the matter, looked at the sofa, but could not say whether any part of it was cut; could not tell whether there were any blood spots on the head of it.

There were blood spots on the parlor door, but did not notice the chair; they were blood spots undoubtedly; Mr. Borden's body was then removed from the lounge; then passed into the front entry with Dr. Dolan and into the front room where they said Mrs. Borden's body was found; saw some spots of blood on pillow shams (here witness was sent for pillow shams and the marble piece taken from the bureau). The shams were produced and identified; witness said they were given to him on Wednesday, the 10th; he saw them on the bed on the 5th of August. The bedspread was examined and also the shams. The sham with the blood lay next to the bureau. Witness made no search of the house, but when he sent men to search the yard he also sent men to search the cellar; only knew the cellar was searched from what was reported to him; the officers were Fleet, Harrington, Reilly, and Medley.

ADLAI AT WORK.

He is Talking Tariff to the People of the West.

Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 31.—Adlai E. Stevenson, democratic candidate for vice president, addressed a mass meeting here yesterday afternoon. Twelve excursion trains poured crowds into the city from an early hour this morning and a parade preceded the speaking.

Mr. Stevenson in his speech confined himself mainly to the tariff question, his line of argument being that of his Bloomington speech. Senator Vest, Wm. J. Stone, candidate for governor, and several local speakers also addressed the meeting.

WAS NOT CHOLERA.

London, Aug. 31.—Ida Samyan, the 4-year-old child of Russian immigrants, who was taken to the London hospital on Sunday, suspected of having cholera, is dead. The post mortem examination revealed acute inflammation of the bowels, but not cholera.

BETTING ON THE FIGHT

Dead Game Sports Are Right In It.

Thousands Going Up on the Contest.

New Yorkers Were Surprised at the Showing Made by the California Boy.

The following combinations bets on the big fights have been posted up by a leading bookmaker:

2 1-2—Sullivan, McAuliffe, Dixon.
3—Sullivan, Meyer, Dixon.
10—Sullivan, Meyer, Skelly.
10—Sullivan, McAuliffe, Skelly.
15—Corbett, McAuliffe, Skelly.
15—Corbett, Meyer, Skelly.
4—Corbett, Meyer, Dixon.
4—Corbett, McAuliffe, Dixon.

NEW YORK PLUNGERS.

How They Are Placing Their Money on the Fight.

New York, Aug. 31.—Butch Thompson, the bookmaker, and a pretty shrewd bookmaker at that, spent about three hours at the Corbett exhibition. He came away with the idea that Sullivan's only chance of victory lay in his taking a sledge into the ring with him.

Thompson is Al Smith's partner, and, as everybody knows the latter used to be John L.'s manager. Perhaps he is taking his conferee's word for it, but at any rate Thompson was the hottest Corbett man in the town to-night.

"Honest" John Kelly happened to run across Butch during the evening, and as a matter of course, a discussion as to the probable result of the big fight followed.

"I'll bet $600 to $1,000 that Sullivan gets licked," said Thompson, at the same time drawing forth a small part of his $300,000 bank roll.

"Done with you," said Kelly, examining his bundle of bank bills by the light of his sixty-five hundred dollar collar button.

"Why, your money is as good as burnt up," laughed Thompson. "The California boy will lick the big fellow in ten rounds, sure."

"Bet you $500 more he doesn't," retorted Kelly.

Thompson was forced to take this bet, and then began to talk about the other fights. Kelly fancied McAuliffe and Dixon besides Sullivan.

"I will lay you 5 to 1 against the combination," said Thompson. "Honest" John took $200 at this price.

Kelly starts with Dick Roche to-morrow afternoon for New Orleans, and they will probably spend a day or two at Bay St. Louis with Jack McAuliffe.

A. W. Holloway, of Norfolk, Va., who is stopping at the Gilsey House, wants to bet $10,000 against $20,000 on Corbett. Al Smith goes him a point better, and will bet $6,000 to $10,000. Ridge Levier has $2,500 to place at 1 to 2 on the spry youngster from the Pacific coast. John O'Neill's $5,000, which he wanted Wakely to bet against $3,000, has not yet been covered.

Charley Johnson would like to get $10,000 on at 100 to 70. Jack Cusack has a modest bet to make on the same conditions. In a day or two combination prices will be posted in nearly all the city pool rooms.

LIKE A KING.

Corbett to Travel in the Finest of Style.

New York, Aug. 31.—Millionaires have never traveled in a car more luxurious than that in which Pugilist Corbett will travel to New Orleans. It is called "The Escort," and it deserves its name. It is beautifully upholstered in blue silk plush, and the cushions are so deep and soft that when the train is in motion one feels as though rocked in the cradle of the deep.

It has been prepared especially for Corbett's necessities at Washington. Its partition has been torn out between two state rooms, making a large, commodious apartment, in which the pugilist's bed—the one upon which he has slept all summer—has been placed. Here the great fistic aspirant for the championship can woo the balmy god while whirling along at the rate of fifty miles an hour toward the scene of the battle.

Corbett's train will leave Jersey City at 4:30 p. m. on Saturday, arriving at New Orleans thirty-nine hours later, or at 7:30 on Monday morning. The train will be composed of five Pullman sleepers, a dining-car and a training-car, in which Corbett will while away the hours at the punching bag and pulleys.

One of Corbett's trainers will stand at the door and nobody but his trusted lieutenants will be permitted to enter the car. The Piedmont Air Line people have left nothing undone to make the pugilistic traveling car a dream of comfort. The gymnasium or training car will be placed next to the engine. Next will be Corbett's sleeping car and behind that the car for newspaper men. Behind this there will be a dining-car. Beyond Manager Brady, Trainers Delaney, Daly, Dillon, McVey and Mike Donovan nobody will be permitted to sleep in the car.

DIAMOND ROBBERY.

Paris, Aug. 31.—Louis Lecomte, an employe of the woman's art exhibition in Paris de L'Industrie, has disappeared with diamonds and jewelry valued at 250,000 francs, stolen from the exhibition. The police have sent notice to all French seaports and to foreign countries.

TWO SUICIDES.

New York, Aug. 31.—Two suicides were reported in this city to-day. They were Patrick Murphy, 50 years old, a sea captain, who cut his throat at his residence in West 36th street, and Victor Ollendarf, a drummer out of work, whose body was found in his bed this morning, death having been caused by poison.

TO DOWN THE COMBINE.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 31.—Gov. Abbett said in an interview to-day that if the attorney general did not have the power to enforce the injunction issued against the Reading coal deal, that he would probably call an extra session of the legislature for that purpose. Attorney General Stockton is preparing a suit against the Lehigh Valley railroad.

Four Russians Placed in a Cholera Hospital

Just as They Were Leaving London for America.

Reports From the Cholera Stricken Countries Showing the Progress of the Disease.

London, Aug. 31.—The four Russian emigrants who were stricken with cholera yesterday just as they were about to depart to the United States have been isolated at Park Hill hospital.

The place is excellently situated for complete isolation, the grounds about the hospital being 15 acres in extent and well guarded against intrusion.

The attending physicians state that there is now no doubt whatever that the disease with which these four Russians are afflicted is Asiatic cholera, of the same type as that which is raging in Persia, and in regions of Russia, from which the emigrants came.

While it is believed that no other emigrants are affected, the greatest anxiety is felt and the most energetic precautions are being taken.

The baggage of all emigrants destined for America was fumigated to-day in the presence of the American consul and the sanitary officers. The consul having expressed himself satisfied with the disinfection, the consular seal was affixed to the baggage.

The emigrants were also inspected, and those who appeared to be in anything like poor health were rejected. The cleanliness and healthy appearance of the Scandinavian emigrants evoked praise from inspecting officers. The most objectionable emigrants were those from southeastern Europe, although many of these had evidently prepared for the ordeal by washing themselves.

One of the suspected cases of cholera at Islington has proved fatal. The victim died to-day. The members of the crew of the steamer Gerona from Hamburg, who are sick with supposed cholera, are improving.

The sanitary authorities continue to exert the utmost precaution both in London and other British ports against the cholera, and there is strong public feeling in favor of excluding all vessels from the infected places on the continent and of putting a stop for the present to the transit across Great Britain of continental emigrants destined for America.

Amsterdam, Aug. 31.—A man who arrived at the Hague recently from Hamburg was attacked with cholera last night. He was removed to a hospital and the house where he was staying has been disinfected.

Quarantine, S. I., Aug. 31.—The steerage passengers of the steamships Circassia and Veendam will be transferred to Hoffman island to-day, where they will be bathed and their clothing disinfected and returned to their respective vessels as soon as this is completed.

Bremen, Aug. 31.—The North German Lloyd Steamship company announced to-day that each of the steamers of that line will carry two doctors during the prevalence of the cholera epidemic. All their vessels will be disinfected twice daily, and all baggage will be disinfected in a special shed before it is allowed to be put on board the steamers. During the voyage only water that has been boiled, or with which muriatic acid had been mixed, will be supplied to crews and passengers.

Vienna, Aug. 31.—A cholera hospital with six hundred and eighty beds, which can be sent to any part of the empire has been constructed here.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The authorities of the suburb of Weissenze, last night, ordered a woman named Bruha, a member of a traveling show, to take back to Hamburg her 10-year-old son, who had just arrived from the infected city. The mother refused on the ground that the boy had a clean bill of health and a passport. The mother, who had been three months at Weissenze, was removed with her son to the cholera lazaretto, despite her frantic struggles. The other members of the show attempted to prevent her being removed, and fought with the police. A large crowd gathered and the gendarmes were obliged to come to the assistance of the police. The riot was finally quelled and many arrests were made.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Mr. Starklaff, the consul of the United States at Bremen, has given the state department his official assurance that there is no Asiatic cholera in that city. To-day he wired the department as follows:

"No cholera (Asiatic) in Bremen. Every precaution taken. Will cable first case."

Vienna, Aug. 31.—The police to-day seized the Tageblatt of this city, for announcing that a train crowded to its utmost limits with fugitives from Hamburg, had passed the Bodenbach station and entered Austria without having to undergo medical inspection or fumigation.

Vienna, Aug. 31.—Two fugitives from Hamburg have died from cholera at a hotel in Bodenback, Bohemia, a short distance over the frontier from Saxony. The victims were hastening home by rail, when the symptoms developed.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—Two deaths have occurred at the Moabit hospital from cholera and there are 24 suspected cases in Berlin and two at Charlottenburg. Sanitary precautions are unabated. There is great public anxiety, but no panic.

London, Aug. 31.—The sanitary authorities at Leith, near Edinburgh, Scotland, are keeping a vigilant lookout for the Hamburg steamer Coblenz, due at that port to-night. The Coblenz is known to have cholera on board.

London, Aug. 31.—Prof. J. O. Affleck, medical examiner at the University of Edinburg, states in an article on cholera that high temperature favors development, but that some of the severe epidemics have raged with the greatest fury in the winter.

Amsterdam, Aug. 31.—The man who died from cholera at Groningen had come from Hamburg.

Teheran, Aug. 31.—The cholera, after destroying thousands, is now on the decrease in Teheran. The deaths from the disease yesterday amounted to 200, a decrease of 600 compared with the number of deaths reported 10 days ago.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The Reichsanzeiger states that all guards on passenger trains are to be provided with a mixture of laudanum and ether with instructions to administer from 20 to 30 drops of the liquid to any person seized with cholera symptoms while traveling. The Reichsanzeiger declares that the reports of the inadequate supervision of passengers from Hamburg is due to a mistaken idea that all such passengers should be examined, whereas the examination is necessary only to persons showing symptoms of illness.

Amsterdam, Aug. 31.—A death from cholera has occurred at Groningen, 92 miles from Amsterdam, and capital of the province of that name. Groningen is accessible to large vessels by canal.

FELL TO THEIR DEATH.

Rome, Aug. 31.—A noted banker named Brooks, from Berlin, who was exploring in the valley of Aosta, Northern Italy, with two guides, fell, with the guides, from a precipice and the three were killed.

GREGAINS AND COSTELLO

They Fight Fifty Rounds to a Draw.

A Fierce Contest From the Start.

Corbett Finding Many Admirers in New York—The League Race—General Mention.

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—A contest which has almost been lost sight of on account of the absorbing interest taken in the approaching pugilistic tournament in New Orleans, took place in the Pacific Athletic club rooms last night before an audience of 2,500 persons.

It was between the middle-weights, Aleck Gregains, of San Francisco, and Martin Costello, more familiarly known to the sporting world as the "Buffalo," who is also an American, but who for the past five years has been in Australia.

The purse was $2,500. The first round was tame, both men sizing each other up. Costello rushed and attempted a swing, but missed.

There were several good exchanges in the second, third and fourth rounds, with honors about even. Costello opened the the fifth round with a righthand swing on Gregains' jaw. The latter clinched and hot exchanges followed at close quarters.

In the sixth both men swung their rights but missed. A clinch followed and in the breakaway Costello landed a good left. Just before the close of the round Gregains landed a light swing on Costello's neck.

From the seventh to the tenth round there was hot fighting. Costello had the best of the latter rounr, but in the eleventh Gregains got in several hard swings.

Rounds twelve, thirteen and fourteen were marked by fast fighting, all in Gregans' favor.

In the fifteenth round Gregains knocked Costello 10 feet by a right swing on the side. Costello was floored by another right swing and was down seven seconds. Up to the twenty-eighth round Gregains held his advantage, flooring Costello in the eighteenth and the twentieth.

The "Buffalo" rallied in the twenty-eighth and fought Gregains to a standstill, but both men were weak.

In the thirty-first round Gregains landed four good rights and Costella was almost out.

From the thirty-second to the fortieth round not a bolw was struck. There was a rally in the forty-first, but Gregains' hands were gone and he seemed unable to finish his his man. But little fighting was done until the fiftieth round was reached, at the end of which it being evident that neither man could win, the fight was declared a draw. Neither man was marked much, Costello showing a trifle more punishment.

d New York, Aug. 31.—The Herald this morning publishes in connection with its account of the exhibitions of Sullivan and Corbett the following opinion of an expert in regard to the condition of the two men and their chances of winning the great battle of September 7:

I have seen the gladiators at work. I watched Corbett closely in the Madison Square Garden yesterday as he tossed the "medicine" ball, wrestled, played hand-ball, punched the bag, and ran for three hours. I saw Sullivan in his bout with Jack Ashton, in the Clermont avenue rink, last night.

Comparing the work of the two men and its effect on each, there can be but one conclusion—Corbett, as far as condition, is by far the better man.

Never have I seen a more perfect specimen of the trained athlete than when I looked upon Corbett yesterday. One could trace every muscle of the magnificent back, arms and chest. The clear skin showed the perfect condition of the blood; the tongue, clean and red, proved that the liver and stomach were in perfect order, and the fact that there was no appreciable acceleration of the normal respiration after a long wheszling bout with an athlete weighing 220 pounds, showed that the young Californian's wind is on a par with his muscular strength.

Without having a pound of superfluous fat Corbett is far from being overtrained. He went at work as a hungry man goes at his dinner. His trainer was twice obliged to expostulate with him for continuing his exercise after he had been told otdesist. There is no surer sign of perfect physical condition than th's appetite for work. In short, Corbett proved that h chas endurance to fight for hours, and strength to fight with effect. His exhibition with the punching bag showed that h's eye is wonderfully accurate.

Sullivan's appearance was a complete surprise to me. To be sure, his eye and skin wer eclear; but as he sat in his corner before beginning the bout with Ashton last night he looked like anything but a man trained for such a battle as is to take place at New Orleans, September 7. When the champion held his head erect, loose folds formed on the back of the head and fat. When h cleaned forward, his close-fitting belt seemed to cut into the waist. It looked as though one could gather handfuls of fat on his sides and stomach. His movements, compared with those of Corbett, seemed slow and listless.

A few seconds of quick work sent the perspiration running off the champion in little streams. And when he sat in h's corner at the end of the first bout round the respiration was hurried. Three rounds and the respiration seemed to become uneven.

There is no room for doubt as to Sullivan's strength and speed. His blows were those of a pile driver, but they were given with the deliberation of a pile driver. There was none of that excess of animal spirits that marked every movement of the more youthful giant.

I asked Sullivan how much he weighed. "Two hundred and four pounds," was the answer. "stripped." If Mr. Sullivan does not weight nearer to 230, I am indeed mistaken.

To sum up, from a professional point of view Corbett has on his side youth, agility and endurance. Sullivan's only advantage, so far as I can see, lies in his superior strength.

—::—::—

Sullivan's train will leave New York Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, and will go directly through to New Orleans without pause of any extent, arriving in the Crescent city Saturday afternoon. Phil Casey talked about Sullivan's weight. "Doubt is expressed by some as to Sullivan being down to 204 as stated," was suggested to Casey.

"We don't care to have people think Sullivan is any lighter than he is," was Casey's reply. "I have said his weight is 204, and if anybody thinks he is heavier than that, or that he is too fat to fight—if anybody thinks that, why there's a good deal of money waiting for any man who will come up and lick our man, thin or fat. That's all I have to say of his weight. As to his general condition we have nothing to conceal. Dominick McCaffrey came down to training quarters one day and he wanted to know why we let a hundred or more people see Sullivan daily. Says I: "Dom, folks say Sullivan is obstinate and won't train and we let people see for themselves just how he is. We let them see him at work, being rubbed, and returning to his work like a man. We let him be seen on purpose, and no man ever trained harder or more faithfully. Of course when a man is 25 to 28 years old he can't help coming into shape, but when a man reaches 271 pounds it is different."

"Sullivan will see none of the set-tos in New Orleans, will he?"

"No," replied Casey, "Sullivan will attend no fighting there except his own."

The quiet method of living at Phil Casey's will be observed by Sullivan until his departure, his exercise being kept up in the racquet court.

Streator, Ill., Aug. 31.—Interest in the great pugilistic "carnival" in New Orleans next week is at white heat in this town. Of course the principal event in the minds of Streator people will be the Myer-McAuliffe fight, which takes place Monday night. A large number of Streator sports will be present at the fight. Those of our citizens who cannot be at the ringside will send their money. Last evening Myer gave an exhibition at Armory hall, which was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiastic admirers. Myer has been working faithfully the last two weeks and now weighs 136 pounds in fighting costume. His eyes are clear and bright, and he never appeared in better condition. Billy sparred two rounds with each of his trainers and was heartily cheered for his splendid exhibition. He was apparently as fresh at the close as when he first stepped into the ring. His wind is all right now. Myer will continue to work hard until Thursday, when he will start for New Orleans. He will probably go into the ring at 138 pounds, and at that weight he is at his best.

New York, Aug. 31.—The following cable was received yesterday: Ted Pritchard, the English champion, called at the Sporting Life to-day and issued a challenge to Bob Fitzsimmons, the American middleweight champion, for £1,000 a side, and the largest purse offered in England or America for the middleweight championship of the world at eleven stone four pounds.

Bryan, O., Aug. 31.—The opening day at the new Bryan mile track was a most successful one. When the track settles down it will be one of the best in the country. The time made on the opening day warrants this assertion.

In the free-for-all trot Bell Archer sold favorite at even money over the field. She was not hitched to a pneumatic sulky, although Fuller had one at hand, and was defeated in straight heats by Lady Belle, the only one in the race drawing the new rig. The bay stallion Cleveland S. stepped away with the 2:19 pace in 2:15 1-2, and with speed to spare. Last season he obtained a trotting record of 2:18 1-4. Jim Wilkes was a two to one favorite for the 2:32 trot, but was distanced in the second heat. Homer won the first heat in 2:26 3-4, but lost the race in fighting finishes to Erector, by Director, who entered the 2:30 list with a new mark at 2:25. The meeting has 130 entries all told, and with fair weather great sport is assured for the next three days. Summary:

Free-for-all trot, purse $800:
Lady Bell (Johnson)	1	1	1
Bella Archer (Fuller)	2	2	2
Jalisco (Jones)	3	3	3
Silver (Cloud)	4	4	4

The Hamlin stable was shipped direct from Hartford to this point, that the horses under Geer's control might have the benefit of work on the Cleveland track Hal Pointer was among them and Geers had the great horse out yesterday afternoon prior to the storm. He was going like a whirlwind and in the opinion of the driver could have paced a mile in 2:03. Geers says Hal Pointer has never been in better trim, nor the Cleveland track in better shape for record breaking purpoes. Next week will demonstrate how fast the Glenville course is with the pneumatic sulky in general use.—Cleveland Leader.

Cincinnati, Aug. 31.—Mr. Newsome, the trainer of Kink Lee, the fleet two-year-old belonging to the Pastime stable, says he received a bona fide offer of $20,000 for him to-day by letter from a horse fancier in the east. He declined the offr, and refuses to give the name of the party that made it. However, it is known that Lorillard, P. Dwyer and Marcus Daly have each had an eye on King Lee, and it is supposed the offer came from one of them. King Lee's mile in 1:42 1-2 last Saturday was the fastest mile ever made by a two-year-old at Latonia.

Independence, Ia., Aug. 31.—A cold wind from the northwest was the speediest contestant on the field to-day. A good crowd turned out despite the disagreeable circumstances, betting was lively, and time good. The 2:25 trot had one heat credited to Kentucky Union; to-day she sold $50, field $25, and won the race in straight heats.

2:25 trot, $1,000:
Kentucky Union	1	1	1
Ben Wallace	7	2	2
Mary Mack	2	12	3
Murtha	3	3	8

Time—2:18 1-4, 2:14 3-4, 2:14 1-2.

Hazel Wilkes was played favorite in the 2:20 trot at $50, field $35, and won in straight heats.

2:20 trot, $5,000:
Hazel Wilkes	1	1	1

WHAT POWER

Has Been Given This Strange Girl?

Sciotoville, O., Aug. 31.—(Special)—Emma Sealing, a young girl living near here, is creating a sensation by the exhibition of a wonderful power. Madam Rollo was with her Emma would unlock nalist, was sent for to explain the mystery. She says Emma is possessed of the spirit of her mother, who is dissatisfied with Sealing's second wife. While Madam Rollo was with her Emma would unlock doors without a key, milk the cows without being near them, and would cause music to be heard in the tree tops. The work of this girl is about to set her father crazy. The furniture of one room would be disturbed every night, so her father placed sand on the floor, locked the doors and awaited the result. The next morning the furniture was found broken the same as before, and no tracks could be seen. The affair is causing a great deal of excitement.

FIFTEEN CENTS

Sends an Old Man to Prison for Twenty Years.

Seymour, Ind., Aug. 31.—Thomas Callahan, 65, a saloon keeper, has been sent to the penitentiary for 20 years for killing Elijah Pressnell, a veteran soldier, for refusing to pay a whisky debt of 15 cents.

WHO SHOT MEAD?

Columbus, O., Aug. 31.—James Mead, the mysterious man arrested on suspicion last night, denies that he is in any way related to Lou Houk. He says he has no sister, and that he wase shot on a Big Four railway train. He refuses to give the circumstances, and says he will settle the matter when he gets out. The bullet is still in his leg.

CHASING A MURDERER.

A Cincinnati Policeman With Nerve.

A Life and Death Run by Two Men.

Sprinting, Train-Jumping and Endurance Tested to Their Fullest Extent.

Cincinnati, Aug. 31.—Officer Phil Roach had a most exciting chase after fugitive Frank Ramey, alias Lafferty, the young railroader who fatally shot William Johnson in Luke's saloon on Third street early Monday morning.

After Ramey made his escape, Officer Roach was detailed to bring the man in, at any cost. Early Tuesday morning Roach got information that Ramey was at the home of his mother-in-law, at 41 Webb alley.

The officer went down there, and the fugitive, learning of his presence, skipped out the back way. He crossed over Third to the Royal Wheel company's works, followed closely by the officer. Ramey ran through the factory to the rear into the Southern railroad yards.

Just as he got into the yards a Southern train was pulling out, going at a pretty rapid rate. The fugitive, who was hotly pursued by Roach, made a run, and caught the second to last coach of the train.

Roach saw this and went him one better, and just caught the last coach. Then began a mad rush through the train.

Ramey ran through the aisles with Roach at his heels. The flying men were panting and the officer yelling: "Stop murderer!" created great excitement among the passengers.

Out through the baggage car plunged Ramey, over the coal pile on the tender, and into the cab of the fast flying engine.

He stopped for wind, and with a defiant laugh looked back at Roach, who was on the front end of the baggage car.

Ramey felt secure, and was beginning to settle down for a long ride out of town, when Roach, not to be denied his prisoner, began climbing over the coal-pit. A look of horror spread over the fugitive's face, while one of determination was seen on that of the officer.

All this time the train was speeding out of the city at the rate of 20 miles an hour.

Over the coal pit Roach rapidly clambered until he was within a few feet of Ramey.

The latter, seeing that the officer meant business, darted through the cab window, and out on to the running board of the engine. Along this ran the hunted man until he reached the cowcatcher, where he perched himself, again sending back a derisive laugh.

Roach reached the cab, and showing his badge to the engineer, said: "I want that man for murder, and I wish you would slack up the engine."

The engineer grew very insolent and said: "You had better go and get him."

"Well, I'll take you at your word," said the plucky officer, and, squeezing himself through the cab window, Roach soon found himself on the running board.

Telegraph poles flew by and houses went whizzing past.

The position was a new one to the officer, and for a moment he grew dizzy; but only for a moment, and once more he started after Ramey.

"My God, you are bound to get me," shouted the runaway.

The engine was nearing "Dead Man's Crossing," at Wood street, when, with a despairing cry, Ramey jumped for it. He had hardly reached the ground when Roach was after him.

Both men fell when they alighted, but were up in an instant.

Again Ramey ran for the train, and again he caught it. Roach ditto. The same old chase through the cars took place once more, and when the baggage car was reached, the hunted man changed his course, and once more jumped off the train.

The train had increased its speed, but Ramey was a railroad man and made the jump safely. Roach hesitated a moment, and then with an air of deliberation, he launched himself forward and alighted on a lot of railroad iron.

Over and over the officer rolled, and a few black and blue spots are witnesses that he was pretty severely bumped. In a moment he recovered himself, and saw his man running up Wood street to Park.

After him sped Roach, who was on an equal footing. Over fences to Gas alley went Ramey, and over the same fences went Roach. Once more to Park street went the fugitive, and so did Roach.

Fox-like the badly wanted man halted in his track and ran back to Gas alley, where Sergeant Finn joined in the chase. Down Gas alley to Second street and into a house near Mill, ran Ramey. Both officers, hot on the trail, followed.

The man had disappeared as though the earth had swallowed him.

Four innocent-looking women met the officers.

"Where's that man who ran in here?" asked Finn.

"What man?" asked one. "Why, we didn't see no man."

Just then Roach spied a cellar door open, and, with true detective foresight, he descended to explore the cellar.

"Here, Sergeant, he may be down here," said Roach.

"All right, Phil," and both officers went down into the dark hole.

For a moment they could see nothing, then a sight met their eyes which put them on the seventh throne of happiness.

There, seated panting on a box in the corner, was their man.

In a second two gleaming revolvers covered the fugitive, and he was told to surrender.

"My God, men, you've got me, and you deserve it. Put up your guns, I've not got mine. I threw it away when I jumped off the train at

"Dead Man's Crossing."

Ramey was placed under arrest and locked up at the Third street station on the charge of shooting to kill.

On the way to the station Ramey congratulated the officers, saying:

"Well, you're a dandy to catch me. You are the neerviest man I ever saw. Why, if I hadn't been running for liberty I would never have jumped from that train, and I am an experienced train hand."

After the arrest Roach made a complaint to Col. Deitsch of the conduct of the engineer of the train. The chief grew very indignant, and will haul up the engineer with a jerk.

The brave chase of Roach was commented on by his brother officers and Chief Deitsch was especially pleased. The roll of honor will no doubt be adorned with the name of Phil Roach.

LIEUTENANT GEARY.

He Will be Tried by Court Martial in Detroit.

Fort Wayne, Mich., Aug. 31.—The court martial summoned by Gen. Miles, of the department of the Missouri, to try Lieut. Woodbridge Geary will convene here to-morrow. Lieut. Geary is an officer of the Nineteenth infantry, stationed at Mackinaw.

What the serious charges are is not exactly known, as beyond the statement that the charges are grave those in charge of the case at army headquarters will not talk. Lieut. Geary is a very prominent man socially and, it is said, he had a row with a brother officer in which the lie was passed and fistic encounter barely averted.

The detail of officers who will try Geary numbers twelve, and the court will be presided over by Col. George M. Brayton.

THE SIXTEENTH.

Columbus, Aug. 31.—Gov. McKinley has issued writs to the sheriffs of Holmes, Medina, Wayne and Stark counties, for special elections to fill vacancy caused by the death of Hon. John G. Warwick, representative of old Sixteenth district in congress. Election ordered November 8, 1892, the same day as the regular election.

LAST OF THE SEASON.

The O. Y. C. to Have a Brass Band, Fireworks,

Concert, Lantern Parade and a General Jollification at the Island to Close the Summer in a Becoming Manner.

The summer season is drawing rapidly to a close and soon the river will be given up to ice plows and the whistling winds. The members of the Ohio Yacht club, recognizing this fact, have decided to have one gigantic blow-out—the last of the season—at the island club house. Blow-out is perhaps an inelegant expression, but the members want to put it kind o' strong, so it's going to be a blow-out.

Last evening the officers and the members of the house and entertainment committees held a meeting at the club house and decided what would be done. Herman Klauser was in the chair and Gus Keip acted as secretary.

Arrangements were made for a big concert of vocal and insrumental numbers, a full brass band concert to follow on the lawn, an elaborate fireworks display and a big lantern parade.

Chas. Klauser, Chas. Durian, Harry Houghton, J. G. Meilink, Frank Hartman, Ernst Chapman and Lon Villhauer were appointed a committee on fireworks. The ladies will of course participate in the celebration, which will occur Friday evening of this week.

An effort will be made to have the Pastime leave for the island at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, to accommodate those who want to take supper at the island. Those who want supper should telephone Gus Keip, phone 1000, or drop him a line to room 45, St. Clair building.

The evening boat will be met at the island with the band and lanterns. A good time is expected and it will be the gala event of the season.

POSTAL AFFAIRS.

English Figures From the Head of the Department.

Queer Addresses and How Letters Get to Their Destination.

London, Aug. 31.—The thirty-eighth annual report of the postmaster has been issued. A continued advance of business is shown; 2,716,518,365 was the total number of letters, an increase of 3.5 per cent.; 6,968,548 telegrams were dispatched, an increase of 4.9 per cent. over the previous year.

Some of the usual curious incidents are given. In one case was found at Dumberton addressed as follows: "To the manager of the Public House with Walker's sign up, corner of the Fair grounds, and the stables are at the back of the house, and last winter Mr. Davis Switchback stood close to the house, Northampton." The letter was delivered.

In another case an address was found in a town of 72,000 inhabitants as follows: "To a gentleman with a cork leg and projecting teeth, who is engaged as assistant to a jeweler."

The report gives particulars of the employment of old soldiers and sailors as postmen, of the revision of postmen's wages, the working of the new express delivery service, and the school stamp deposit scheme.

FIVE MEN SHOT.

Serious Outcome of a Strike of Railroad Men at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Aug. 31.—The Northeastern switchmen's strike, which has been on since the 14th inst., took a serious turn shortly before midnight and terminated in four employes and one striker being shot. The shooting occurred near the main track in the yard on Press street, and the wounded were: W. R. Smith, foreman of the switch engine gang; George Sprague, night yardmaster; W. R. Mapes, a switchman; J. F. Jones, engineer of switching engine; James Sexton, one of the striking switchmen.

Jones, Sprague, Smith, and Mapes were all belonging to the night gang. They were all seated on the rear of a coach in the center of the yard in conversation. Without warning of approach, Sexton and a comrade appeared before the quartet and began abusing them for "scabbing." Suddenly there was a sheet of flame and a deafening report, nd two men lay groaning on the ground.

A half-dozen or more shots were fired and the two assailants started to run away, one going toward the river and the other toward Canal street.

A crowd soon gathered about the scene and the greatest excitement prevailed. The police soon arrived. The four employes were placed in an ambulance and taken to the hospital. Sexton was found on Royal street, lying near the sidewalk. He was also taken to the hospital.

The beginning of the trouble resulted from the dismissal of a night yardmaster who had been employed temporarily.

When his place was made vacant the company brought one of their old employes from Meridan. The men struck because they wanted one of their number to be given the position.

THE COLORED VOTE.

How a Member of the Race Views the Coming Battle.

Columbus, O., Aug. 31.—Herbert A. Clark, a colored man of this city, recently prepared an article in rply to some attacks on ex-President Cleveland, and presented arguments to show, from his standpoint, why the colored voters should support the ex-president. Clippings of the articles were sent to the two candidates, and Mr. Clark is in receipt of the following acknowledgements:

Gray Gables,
Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Aug. 25, 1892.

Herbert A. Clark, Esq.

My Dear Sir: I have received your letter of the 21st inst., together with the clippings which you inclose, and have read them with the utmost satisfaction. I am well satisfied that in time to come you consciousness of having done something to benefit in a practical way our colored fellow citizens will be abundant compensation for the efforts you are making in support of the democratic cause. Assuring you that I fully appreciate your expressed determination to labor for the success of democratic principles, I am very truly yours,

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 25, 1892.

H. A. Clark, Esq.

Dear Sir: I have read your inclosed clipping with pleasure. If more speeches of that character were delivered it would help greatly in educating the masses and assist them to understand the issues of the day. I am yours very truly,

A. E. STEVENSON.

GOVERNOR M'KINLEY SPOKE.

Grand Rally of the Republican State League of Vermont at Burlington.

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 31.—The raly here under the auspices of the republican state league was an unqualified success. From 12,000 to 15,000 people heard, or tried to hear, the speakers. Republican clubs were present from all parts of the state. Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, and Secretary of State J. L. Griffith, of Indiana, were the speakers. Congressman H. H. Powers was president of the day. Gov. McKinley discussed the tariff, answering Gen. Stevenson's Bloomington, Ill., speech, and referred to the report of Labor Commissioner Peck, of New York, as a vindication of the policy of protection. He spoke an hour and a half.

Bordentown, N. J., Aug. 31.—The train hands who were either killed or wounded in the collision here last night on the Pennsylvania railroad are the following:

Killed—Lewis, Richard E., conductor of train No. 340, and a resident of Mount Holly.

Rule, Andrew, engineer.

Shinn, ——, baggagemaster of the extra train.

Injured—Baggagemaster of the regular train (name unknown), will probably die. The responsibility for the accident has not yet been determined.

BEER TAKES A HOP.

Prices Advanced Double in Chicago.

The Battle of the Kegs is Over and Brewers Are Once More Happy.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Harmony is restored among the brewers, and to-morrow the price of beer will be advanced to $6 per barrel.

This increase, however, will not affect the consumer, as beer will still be sold at the regulation price of 5 cents per glass.

For the past six months beer has been selling at from $2.50 to $4 a barrel, and as the retail price has remained the same the local saloonkeepers have been realizing a profit of something over 60 per cent. on their sales.

A new combination, known as the Chicago Brewers' association, has been formed, and the members of that body have determined to prevent a continuation of this "ruinous competition."

Several wealthy saloonkeepers have threatened to start breweries of their own rather than pay $6 a barrel. They say that beer can be put on the market at $4, and a good profit left for the brewer, and that, under these circumstances, outside competition is bound to spring up as fast as new concerns are absorbed in the association.

Cincinnati brewers have also made an agreement according to which the price will be raised to $8, with the usual rebates. This action was rendered necessary by the recent reduction caused by the war against St. Louis and other outside breweries.

APPRAISEMENT OF RAILWAY PROPERTY.

Columbus, Aug. 31.—The state board of railway equalization, composed of Auditor of State Poe, Treasurer Cope, and Atorney General Richards, approved all of the appraisements of railway property of all kinds as returned by the boards of county auditors except in one instance. They reduced the appraisement of the Baltimore & Ohio and Chicago main line $300 per mile from that made by the county auditors and increased $300 per mile the appraisement of the main track of the B. & O., Lake Erie division.

ELEVATOR BURNED.

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 31.—At Eau Claire, a station on the north end of the Big Four railroad, an immense elevator has burned. The loss on the building alone is over $10,000. The elevator was nearly full of wheat. Amount of insurance unknown.

Newark, O., Aug. 31.—Thomas Streanf, a well-to-do farmer residing north of Chatham, met a tragic death just below St. Louisville by being struck by a B. & O. train.

IN WISCONSIN.

The Whole State Ticket to be Renominated.

Senator Vilas Has Been Entrusted With the Authorship of the Platform.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 31.—The only interest attaching to the democratic state convention being held in this city is in the platform, which will give some indication as to the plan of battle to be followed by the party in the fall campaign.

The old ticket will be renominated throughout, from Gov. Peck down. The republicans have already taken a decided stand on both the Bennett law and the state treasury question, and have thus forestalled any effort on the part of the democrats to join battle on the issues of two years ago.

Senator Vilas has been entrusted with the authorship of the new code of principles, and his party expects that he will produce a strong document. The convention was called to order shortly after noon by State Chairman Wall in the Academy of Music on Milwaukee street, and though this is the largest auditorium in the city, it was crowded to the doors. This evening Gov. Peck will deliver the principal address at the opening of the exposition.

ELECTRICAL IMPROVEMENT.

An Ohio Man Gets Himself to the Front.

Springfield, O., Aug. 31.—Dr. Winfield Bryan, a local electrician, has made a wonderful discovery in a practically self-sustaining storage battery. He is a man of long experience in electrical matters, and a great investigator. He has been working on his invention for two years, and it now promises to work wonders in the mechanical world. Dr. Bryan's battery is wholly different from any thing of the kind heretofore manufactured.

Not yet being protected by patents he will not tell exactly what his valuable secret is, except in a general way. A combination of chemicals, altogether new, is made, and their action is slow, yet strong, that the current generated will last with constant use, from estimates now made, from three to five years.

An ordinary battery is good for only 12 hours. The inventor throws a little light on his secret by saying that a reversal of the current causes a reoxidation of the chemicals, thus strengthening the battery. The battery was exhibited last week in Cincinnati to representatives of the Edison Phonograph company, the Fan and Motor company, and a representative of the Big Four.

NEWS OF THE WAR.

About 1,000 tickets are already sold for the people's straw election to be given by the Young Men's League of the Fifth Presbyterian church, under a tent at the corner of Monroe and Bancroft streets, next Wednesday evening. By general request the polls will open at 5 p. m. Except during the speeches, they will remain open till all have voted who wish. The democratic speaker is not yet positively settled, but will probably be Mr. Charles H. Ashley. The republican will be represented by Thomas Wheeler; prohibitionists by P. C. Beard, and people's party by Charles Martin. Each of these gentlemen will speak fifteen minutes. The admission tickets have an Australian ballot with the names of the four presidential candidates' and everyone can vote as many times as they'll buy tickets.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Gen. W. I. Squire Issues an Interesting Epistie.

He Calls on All Loyal Republicans to Squelch the Bonner Regime—Against the Postoffice.

Major General W. I. Squire, the Fourth ward republican boss, is on the war path.

He has blood in his eye and hay on his horns and there is trouble in store for the Bonner bosses.

Yesterday Mr. Squire issued the following circular letter and mailed it to "friends of Foraker" in this city and county.

Toledo O., Aug. 30, 1892.

Dear Sir: I think we ought to rebel against the infamous contrivance of Joe Bonner to tie us hand and foot for all time to come.

If we do not do it now it will be too late.

We ought to get a lot of people together from each ward, issue a call under the old caucus business and elect delegates.

Let me know what you think of this by return mail. Yours,

Dictated (J.)

The circular was type written, on Mr. Squire's office letter heads.

It does not matter how the Bee came to secure the document. It will suffice to say that any who question the authorship can see two of the originals by calling at the Bee office.

Squire evidently will not be bound by the decision of the republican county central committee and means trouble.

It was intimated this morning that the majority of the county central committee is with Squire, and there is a possibility of the committee holding another meeting, at which the tables may be turned on the Bonner crowd.

THE BROER CASE.

He May be Cited Into Probate Court

To Explain His Transaction in Response to Questions Put by Attorneys.

The situation in the Broer matter to-day is about the same as yesterday.

Mr. Broer claims through his attorney, Mr. Kohn, that aside from the value of the patents referred to in the Bee of yesterday, he has neither money nor property, and that he has presented the case just as it is and as it was presented in the Bee of yesterday.

Papers have been drawn up preparatory to establishing proceedings in aid of execution in probate court against Mr. Broer. He will be then called upon to appear in probate court, on a day set, and answer all questions propounded by the alliance representing the various claims. There will be about ten lawyers in the case and it can be imagined that the examination will be thorough.

It will be settled this afternoon whether the proceedings will be filed or not.

John F. Kumler to-day received another claim from a New York creditor for diamonds sold amounting to $1,500.

Miss Lou Wescott, of Lansing, Mich., is the guest of Toledo friends.

Miss Lulu Williams returned last evening from a pleasant trip to Mackinaw.

Mrs. Judge Rouse has returned from the east, where she spent several delightful months.

Mrs. Sadie Jones, of Chicago, and formerly Miss Gleason, of Toledo, is visiting Toledo friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Jones and children and Mr. and Mrs. McAfee are spending a few days at Edgewater.

Miss Irvine is at present at Clifton Springs, N. Y., where she is slowly recovering from her recent illness.

Misses Emma Smith, of Warren, O., and Josephine Bond, of Philadelphoa, have been the guests of Dr. Elizabeth Wood this week, returning home yesterday.

Mr. Frank E. Healy and sister, Kate D. Kawx, and Mr. C. E. Holmes left this morning to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Lawrence, of North Baltimore, O.

Miss Fannie Farrar entertained a few friends Monday evening in a pleasant manner. Among her guests were: Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Kornier, Mrs. Suder, Miss Tilbot and Miss Ella Suder. Miss Farrar left for Philadelphia this morning.

In the calendar of the Throop university at Pasadena, Cal., appears the name of Mabel Wilson, "Director of Industrial Training for Women and Instructor in Sewing and Cooking." Miss Wilson has arrived at her new field of labor and is pleased with the prospect. And thus does the Toledo manual training school get advertisement and indorsement throughout the country. Those who know Miss Wilson's ability and energy are confident of her entire success.

Mrs. Lucia Julian Martin, whom Toledo claims despite her years of teaching in Indianapolis, will depart, September 5, for her work as instructor in expression and physical culture in the Alma college, St. Thomas, Canada. The school has a fine reputation both sides of the border. The Canadians are to be congratulated on the wisdom of their selection for this important professorship. Mrs. Martin has the hearty and voluntary endorsement of the Indiana superintendent of public instruction, a pleasant introduction to her new associates by Governor Chase, and the best wishes of hosts of friends and admirers, in her new school relationship.

PURE AND WHOLESOME QUALITY

Commends to public approval the California liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasant to the taste and by acting gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels to cleanse the system effectually, it promotes the health and comfort of all who use it, and with millions it is the best and only remedy.

Among famous women who were mothers of small families comes Elizabeth Barrett Browning, who had only one son. Mrs. Somerville, the mathematician, had two daughters and one son only, though she was twice married. Mme. George Sand had two children, a son and a daughter; so had Lady Mary Montagu, whose "letters" are so admired in our own literature, and Mme. de Sevigne, writer of equally famous "letters" in French. Mme. de Stael had three children in her early married life; when 45 years old she married a second time and then had another son. George Eliot (Mrs. Cross) was childless, and so was Mrs. Craik, the author of "John Halifax." Mrs. Barbauld, whose prose and poetry were both much admired in the last century, had no children, and the same was the case with her equally praised contemporary, Mrs. Opie.

GERMAN TRADE.

It Will be Discussed in the Reichstag.

London, Aug. 31.—The Times has a dispatch from Berlin this morning which says: It is now recognized that the hopes based on a lavish imperial subvention of the German steamship lines have proved fallacious. The North German Lloyd prevailed upon the government to consent to a bill at the next session of the imperial parliament providing for the total or partial suspension of the Mediterranean and Sydney and Samoa services and the right to use foreign built vessels on Subsidized lines.

Ex-Gov. Proctor Knott, who has long been an intimate friend of Mr. Adai E. Stevenson, has made public some interesting reminiscences of the character and personal traits of the democratic vice-presidential candidate. Mr. Stevenson is said to be a fascinating talker, as much at home in holding the attention of a crowd of illiterate laborers as in entertaining a circle of men distinguished in statesmanship or in literature. His private life has been so entirely blameless that he has never been known to utter "a syllable savoring of profanity, irreverance or impurity." Mr. Stevenson's conversation is enlivened by frequently recurring flashes of wit, and during the period of his career in Washington many a bon-mot that made the rounds of the official circles had its origin in his lively fancy.

Mr. Whiting will return from his vacation Sept. 3. Will receive his pupils after Sept. 5, 1892.

A true woman's dearest desire is, as everybody knows, to be suitably dressed "in case of fire." Hitherto she has not been altogether able to realize it. Her clothes in some instances have been becoming, but never what could be termed suitable with strict regard to truth. A sister woman appreciating this difficulty, has, however, come to the rescue by inventing an "emergency dress" to be donned as soon as the inmate of a burning house becomes aware that it is on fire. The only trouble with the arrangement, from a feminine point of view, is that while it is altogether appropriate to the occasion, it is not beautiful, except so far as strict utility is beautiful. It is like a diver's costume in general appearance, and is made of asbestos and cloth. Here is the beginning of the end of thrilling rescues of beautiful women from flame-encircled windows by heroic firemen. The fire-escape, too, may just as well hide its diminished head.

QUARTER OF A MILLION LOSS.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The head of dock No. 4 at Bremen, loaded with cotton and spirits, was burned to-day. The damage is estimated at $250,000.

A valuable and interesting addition to the public school system of New York city is the scholarship of St. Mary's, which, when in port, is in the East river, near Thirty-first street. Any boy between the ages of 15 and 20, of good moral character and the required physique, whose father is a citizen of New York city, may be admitted. The boys are taught the usual common school branches in the morning and have nautical drills in the afternoon. The annual cruise in foreign waters is made in the summer, at which time they frequently meet their rivals on board the Saratoga, the Philadelphia school-ship. The arrival of these ships excites great interest abroad, and many courtesies are tendered them. During the sixteen years that the St. Mary's has been in operation 1,557 boys have attended the school, and 469 have been graduated from it, over three-fourths of whom have gone to sea.

The centenary of the French republic is to be kept on September 22. There is to be a grand military spectacle on the large plaza in front of the Invalides and a gorgeous historical pageant. The latter will start from the Bastile and finish at the Palace de la Concorde. The chariots used in this procession will in the evening be placed at street corners, and there used as open-air theaters, where patriotic pieces will be performed.

Don't You Know

that you can secure almost immediate relief from Indigestion, and that uncomfortable fullness after meals, by simply taking a dose of Simmons Liver Regulator? Some people think that because it is called Liver Regulator it has nothing to do with Indigestion and the like. It is the inaction of the Liver that causes Indigestion, and that fullness; also Constipation, and those Bilious Headaches. Millions have been made to understand this and have been cured from these troubles by Simmons Liver Regulator—a medicine unfailing and purely vegetable.

From Rev. M. B. Wharton, Baltimore, Md

"It affords me pleasure to add my testimony to the great virtues of Simmons Liver Regulator. I have had experience with it, as occasion demanded, for many years, and regard it as the greatest medicine of the times. So good a medicine deserves universal commendation."

Maine will go republican, and Texas democratic. Now you know how to bet your money.

Major McKinley is to speak in Elwood, Indiana, September 13. It is a manufacturing town and in Congressman Bynum's district. Mr. Bynum has challenged McKinley to a joint tariff debate upon the occasion of the Major's visit, and it remains to be seen if the Prince of Protection will flunk, as he did with Col. McClure.

The determination of the government building crowd to give Mr. Lincoln, of Wood county, the congressional nomination has a double significance. The Foraker following is to be turned down and no big Granger of Col. Brigham's capacity has any business to apply for honors in the Ninth district republican congressional convention.

And still the literati of political primerdom refuse to tell us why labor emigration to our shores is nearly all from protected countries of Europe, while free trade English work people stay on their little over-crowded island. Very few of them, comparatively, come into their own protected Canada. Why is this thus? Will nobody explain?

The residents of Broadway very earnestly protest against the proposition of the Lake Shore company to raise the bridge over that street. Broadway is one of the principal streets of Toledo and nothing should be permitted to impair its present advantages or detract from its future possibilities. The grade of the street should not be raised.

Comparing tables of birth rate in Europe, it is found that all nations show a decrease, within the last ten years. France shows the lowest birth rate, though England has had greater proportional decrease. Outside of a few large cities, France is the only European country from which there is no considerable emigration, and no immigration to mention, so the native French may settle for themselves the question of why and wherefore and ultimately.

The world of English literature and the country of the United States, socially and politically, are bereaved in the death of George William Curtis. A scholarly, high-minded gentleman, an independent thinker, a leader in the study of national economics, a charming linguist in lighter vein—a large place is left vacant by his passing away. The delightful "Easy Chair," changed for the quiet couch of death, will be garlanded by flowers of remembrance from hosts of silent ones. The pronounced eulogies will but poorly represent the universal sense of loss.

The Washington Post wants the democrats of Ohio to take the advice of Mr. Allan W. Thurman and shut up campaign headquarters in the state on the supposition that the democrats have no show in Ohio and it's just a waste of money. The Post seconds the motion because "it would be a great relief to go through just one presidential campaign without being surfeited with Ohio men and Ohio gossip." The Post shows small acquaintance with Ohio politicians, if it thinks any pent-up Utica like the boundary lines of a state, contracts their powers. The acquaintance of Al Thurman with Ohio democrats is also strangely small.

THE FUNDAMENTAL QUESTION.

The question at issue is, does the protective tax, levied in the name of labor, benefit labor or capital? Capitalists, to a man, fighting for a law that compels them to pay higher labor wage, is something a bit singular. And it is odd, again, with all this legislation in its behalf, that labor is no better conditioned in this country, in comparison with other countries, than the wide expanse of continent and a free form of government should make it. Indeed, is the difference so great as it should be, these enormous advantages considered? Again, with all this effort in behalf of labor, what is the cause of its unrest and discontent? Even at its best, it demands a larger share of profits.

Is there any discrimination in the distribution of governmental favors? If there is, then, manifestly there is gross injustice. A man doesn't need a whole library of literature and a succession of campaign orators to help him study out these things. He has only to look closely at his own business concerns and those of his neighbor, read, compare and draw his own conclusions. The campaign orator of Ohio who said the common people would better not try to study out the tariff but leave it for experts to manage, misstook both the temper and capability of "the common people." The fundamental questions stripped of the mysterious word-veiling purposely disposed around them are not difficult of comprehension in the solution of the vexed political problem.

A UNIQUE CAMPAIGN.

In some respects the present presidential campaign is a unique one in the history of American politics. The fight between the machine and the people at both the principal nominating conventions, with failure on the part of the people in the one case and success in the other, the resultant antagonism, a candidate with a presidential record behind him on both leading tickets, the mysterious and uncertain position of the northwestern states, the condition of politics all round in the Empire state, the effect more or less of the labor outbreaks, the figure which the third and fourth parties will cut, the active participation of erstwhile quiescent classes, the spectacle of a president managing his own campaign for re-election, the conflicting interests in the south, the cart-loads of campaign literature that no man or nation of men can possibly read and digest, the absence of racket and the prevalence of argument by tongue and pen—these many factors that enter into the different phases of the political situation, the probabilities that clash as never before with the possibilities—all combine to make the campaign one of great interest and importance and of puzzling uncertainty. Some minor peculiarities are the fact that the four nominees on the old party tickets are all Presbyterians. For the first time in the history of the country and of modern civilized nations, women will cast votes for the national officers of government.

AN ADMISSION WITH MUCH INVOLVED.

Senator Allison has read the figures in the newspapers, likewise some handwriting on the wall. He admits that the duty on steel rails "is far too great." Now that conviction and confession are made on this point, the senator's attention is directed to the tax on several other commodities, that looms up as greatly out of proportion to "the difference in cost of labor." There is a prohibitory duty of 100 per cent. on certain grades of Australian and Argentine wools that are quite necessary to our carpet manufacturers. On flannels the duty ranges from 60 to 100 per cent.; on wool dress goods, of the cheaper grades, from 50 to 83 per cent.; on cleaned rice, 105 per cent.; on castor oil, 120 per cent.; on razors, 98 per cent.; on common window glass, 92 per cent.; and on crockery, 60 per cent. Any candid person who will give studious attention to the schedule of the present tariff law, must see the trail of the lobby of the monopolist the entire length of it. In cold statement, the manufacturers able and willing to pay the ruling party for benefits, get them. The cost of labor or the cost of living in this country as compared with conditions in other countries enters not at all into the calculation. It was an open bargain, a conspiracy against the people, and the party guilty of its perpetration has been on the defensive, with apologies and explanations, ever since the bold act was consummated. Senator Allison knows these things are true, but with a campaign in progress, he will not pursue his investigations, however fervently he is pressed to do so.

THE BOWER INVESTIGATION.

The Commercial calls the Bee down for referring to Street Commissioner Bower as a republican reformer. The words were used advisedly by the Bee. The republican papers advocated his election as a reformer when they unmercifully abused Mr. James Gribben, the democratic candidate for re-election. Mr. Gribben was a faithful and an honest officer, yet to further the chances of this man Bower, who seemed to be a pet of the slate makers, no accusations were spared in the treatment of Mr. Gribben. This man Bower was the representative of the party, set up to reform methods and improve upon the previous administration. The dirtiest kind of politics was used in his election, and it is highly proper now to call attention to his methods as disclosed by the board of revision, and when he is spoken of as "a republican reformer" the shoe will pinch those whose corns are the most tender.

The Commercial makes the mess all the more odorous by saying the charges just brought out were offered for publication when Bower was a candidate for re-election and declined. If this be true, it is all the more creditable to the journal so declining to print an unsubstantiated charge just before election, for possible effect upon the voters. It may be the republican notion to do such things, for such purposes and at such times, but it is not manly, neither is it the democratic way. The Bee has treated Mr. Bower with greater respect and consideration than republican papers would have shown a democratic official under like circumstances. It has given him the benefit of doubt and has charitably refrained from adverse criticism until the facts were brought out before the legally constituted board of revision. Now the matter is public property and the findings of that board are presumptive evidence that the man Bower, this pet republican officer, this republican reformer, has done things which were decidedly wrong, and for which, if the case shall be properly prosecuted, he will probably be impeached. The Commercial is welcome to all it can find that is comforting in any phase of this Bower matter, and may continue its hypercriticism indefinitely. The more the worse for Bower.

MR. PECK'S BOOMERANG.

About this time in the campaign look out for roorbacks and boomerangs. A clumsy thing of the kind comes in the form of the report of Mr. Peck, New York state commissioner of labor. It is the first visible thrust from Mr. Hill from under his cloak. If there were no counter argument against the alleged returns, Mr. Peck's personal manifesto, accompanying his figures, gives the whole thing away.

"I am a democrat—a Hill democrat." If he had been a shrewd man he would have omitted to make that leading declaration in the face of the fact that Hill is a protectionist and a sworn enemy of the democratic candidate, on the issue of tariff revision. He is "free to admit that the figures are not in harmony with the democratic platform." Was Mr. Peck paid by the people of New York to take politics into consideration at all, in his statistical work? That the whole job is political is demonstrated by his "prelude."

If Mr. Peck had designed to make his report honest and valuable he would have given facts in detail. Among his listed industries are unprotected ones, lumped off with the rest. The trick of aggregates and averages serves him well. Suppose his report were a correct one, it proves only that protection stimulates certain branches of trade at the expense of others. Of the 2,000,000 persons, in the state, engaged in gainful occupations, there are 89,717 instances of increased earnings. What of the unlisted—the great majority?

His statements are based upon "confidential letters from 6,000 manufacturers, which he cannot permit to be seen because it would injure their business." A letter or two from some of the 90,000 employes who have been benefited by the tariff act, would be quite as convincing as the thousands from tariff beneficiaries, whose "business will be injured" by having the facts known. The fraud is too transparent to merit serious words in exposure.

Finally, the laborers, unappealed to in the case, know if their wages have been raised. Some of the leaders of labor organizations are already in print, discrediting Mr. Peck's tables and declaring that whatever of change for the better comes to them comes solely through the influence and demands of well-organized labor societies. Mr. Peck's selected and arranged evidence, all for a specific purpose, has not closed the mouths of the tens of thousands of unsolicited witnesses in the state and the country.

The Old, True Ring.

In 1837, Gen. Jackson, in his farewell address, said: "Congress has no right under the constitution to take money from the people, unless it is required to execute some one of the specific powers intrusted to the government; and if they raise more than is necessary for such purposes, it is an abuse of the power of taxation, and unjust and oppressive." That sounds very much like the democratic platform of today.—Grand Rapids (Mich.) Democrat.

DEMOCRATIC DESSERT.

A Touching Time.

Mr. McKinley says he is deeply touched by his reception in the east. The people in the east and every other section have been rather deeply touched by the McKinley style of legislation.—N. Y. World.

"The One" in Colorado.

It is the force bill here and the tariff reform there, but the silver qestion is coming to the front everywhere. That is the issue of this campaign.—Denver Times.

If—

If we had a decent and neighborly policy instead of the dirty, little, back-fence fusses we are having with Canada, we could get millions of dollars out of that country every year.—St. Lou's Republic.

Not Just Now.

Ex-Congressman Mason is warned by the senior republican organ that he must not refer to the force bill from the stump in the present campaign. The organ warns the ex-congressman that he will thus injure the republican party. It avers that the force bill is not now an issue and that the best policy for republicans is to allow it to be forgotten by voters.—Chicago Times.

Once Before but Never Again.

Reconstruction and bayonet law, with African rule and the race conflicts which followed, caused such a crush once before; and if the force bill accomplishes the aim and purpose of the republicans it will bring about the same result. A large element in the republican party admits this, and is protesting as vigorously against the law as the democrats.—N. O. Times-Democrat.

They Don't Consist.

The republican papers should make their columns harmonize better. Their market reports contradict their editorial columns. Whilst the latter are congratulating the farmer upon his prosperity and the Fortunatus purse that the McKinley bill has brought him, the market reports show that the price of the two great money crops of the country, wheat and cotton, is low almost beyond precedent. That these two products upon which the livelihood of so great a portion of the people of the United States depends will fetch in the market less than the cost of production.—Baltimore Sun.

Answer That, Please!

Governor McKinley says in defense of of the tariff that it "makes free everything which we could not produce in the United States, and which we need." Will he pretend to say that the country does or can produce either the quantities or varieties of wool which are needed in manufactures? During the last year the importations of raw wool amounted to nearly 150,000,000 pounds, upon which the manufactures paid duties amounting to $7,500,000. Would manufacturers pay this enormous amount of tax upon imports of foreign wool if they could supply their needs in this country?—Philadelphia Record.

THE HARRISON TRAIN.

It Arrives in New York Behind Time.

A Short Stop and the Party Proceeds to White Plains to Spend the Day With Whitelaw.

New York, Aug. 31.—President Harrison arrived in this city this morning and left again without half a dozen people so much as getting a sight of him.

It required cosiderable maneuvering to accomplish the feat, but it was accomplished. It was first announced that the president's private car would be switched from the New York Central train at Mott Haven and proceed from there to White Plains.

The train was to arrive at 7 a. m. At that hour there was a dozen newspaper men at the station and a number of citizens awaiting the president's arrival.

It was suddenly announced that the president's car would be sent out from the Grand Central depot instead of at Mott Haven. Everybody then went to the Grand Central depot. Shortly after the field had thus been cleared Chairman Carter, of the republican campaign committee, and Russell Harrison arrived. Word was sent from the Grand Central to flag the president's train and allow them to board it.

The train was nearly two hours late. Mr. Carter and Russell Harrison at once entered the president's car, where he and his traveling companions were seated at breakfast. The president after the usual greetings retired into his private apartments with Mr. Carter and his son. The others of the party, Mr. Halford and Mr. Tibbetts, remained in the dining room.

Mr. Tibbetts informed the United Press reporter that the train made only one stop on its way down, at Norwood, where there were a number of people and a brass band awaiting them. The president spoke a few words from the rear platform, but made no attempt to make anything like a speech. He kept away from political topics.

While the train waited at the Grand Central station the president was in close consultation with Mr. Carter and Mr. Russell Harrison.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the Traveler, the president's car, was attached to an empty day coach and an engine and the train left for White Plains.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 31.—President Harrison, accompanied by Chairman Carter and Russell Harrison, arrived here at 10:40 and were met at the station by Whitelaw Reid. There was a large crowd at the station to welcome the president, and he bowed in response to the cheers as he walked from the train to the carriage in waiting.

BLOCKS BUSINESS.

The Toledo Bridge Company Badly Hampered

On Account of the Carnegie Strike—Many Others Waiting and Men Idle.

The result of the Carnegie strike at Homestead is being severely felt here.

The Toledo Bridge company had several large orders with Carnegie when the strike commenced and have been unable so far to get one of them filled.

As a result many of the men at the works are idle, and Mr. Tolerton, one of the directors, said to a Bee this morning that all the large contracts remained unfulfilled.

"The smaller orders," he said, "we have been able to get through all right, but the larger ones are all away back."

The contracts thus withheld amount to $100,000.

Since the strike but one order of the company's has been filled, and that was received a few days ago.

The bridge company was notified yesterday that by September 10 the Carnegie company would be in shape to fill and receive orders as heretofore.

REPUBLICAN RELISHES.

Everything Lovely "Now."

No complaint now of lack of activity in republican circles or of confidence in republican victory.—Syracuse Herald.

Is This "Over Confidence?"

Governor McKinley is a shrewd and level-headed judge of political signs and seasons. When he declares, therefore, without reservation after his long trip in the northwest that it will be solid for Harrison, every one can rely on it as no hasty or reckless conclusion.—Cleveland Leader.

Sheriffs, not Arbitrators.

The arbitration doctrine has not a foot to stand on in strikes. Instead of more courts of arbitration more sheriffs with decision and nerve are wanted, and more sense in workingmen when they strike to keep them within the bounds of law and right.—Bradford Era.

Any Reason for It?

After 14 years of fair and patient trial, the country decided in 1860-61 that it had enough of a tariff for revenue only, and it returned to the American system of protection, which had prevailed most of the time up to that period, and has prevailed ever since. Can anybody give a single reason why the popular verdict of 1860 should not be repeated in 1892.—Boston Journal.

What Protection Does (for Labor).

Benjamin Harrison got at the root of this whole tariff discussion when he reminded the nation that the doors of Castle Garden swing inward. Business has been so good in this country, wages so high, the demand for labor so active, that between 1860 and 1891, inclusive, 11,553,267 foreign immigrants came to these shores. This is what protection has done. Don't abandon the policy.—New York Mail and Express.

Attention Mr. Wanamaker.

A great many complaints about the inefficiency of Postmaster General Wanamaker would never be made if that gentleman would give a little attention to the details of his business and try to change things over from the old slow-coach methods. The way things are run is enough to try the patience of Job. Buffalo is a city of 300,000 people. Mr. John Wanamaker wants to remember that its mail must not be sent into the city of New York and loaf there three or four days waiting distribution by the attaches under the mighty poor generalship of Mr. Van Cott.—Buffalo News.

TOLEDO RIGHT IN IT.

Wonderful Increase in the Receipts of Grain.

As a Wheat Market Toledo Stand Unrivalled—Some Interesting Facts in King & Co.'s Report.

The wonderful increase in wheat receipts at this point is the subject of much comment, not only on 'Change here, but in all wheat centers throughout the country.

In the special market report of C. A. King & Co., issued to-day, this increase is remarked upon as follows:

Toledo as a wheat market is the marvel of the grain trade. It stands right up, John L. Sullivan, or, possibly, Corbett-like, and attracts the admiration of the world. It has knocked out all winter wheat rivals. Receipts here this month have been the largest ever known, over seven million bushels. Stocks here are only two millions, or less than a million more than a month ago. Price here has declined only one cent this month. St. Louis and New York have each declined two and one-half cents, Baltimore four cents, and the latter is now actually below the price here.

A St. Louis friend anxiously asks why does Toledo September wheat continue higher than Baltimore?

A New York firm last Saturday wrote us as follows:

Have been reading your Special. It's very creditable, and is bristling with points.

Last spring we handled over two million bushels of Toledo wheat, and there were only 8,000 bushels about which any question occurred. The prices Toledo obtained showed the good policy pursued and that it pays to be honest. Toledo has outstripped every other market on qualities. Toledo quality isn't as good as last year, but we think it's the best there is. It is very gratifying to see Toledo rewarded for maintaining a gold basis and not doing as some of your neighboring markets have done, i. e., to make a seventy-cent piece fetch a dollar. They might succeed in a single instance, but the second time they'd only get 69 cents.

Our standard is higher than the seaboard and exporters and millers who want good wheat know Toledo is the place to get it and that the inspection here can be relied upon. New York permits northern hard wheat to be delivered on contracts. Newspaper reports say Minneapolis and Duluth are liable to admit a pound lighter wheat to their contract grades than last year.

Toledo Leads.

The following figures which are quoted in the matter of wheat receipts, speak for themselves:

Receipts.

	To-day.	Year Ago.
Toledo	497,000	395,000
Chicago and Milwaukee	370,000	390,000
Duluth and Minneapolis	75,000	258,000
St. Louis and Detroit	236,000	170,000
Seaboard	475,000	880,000
Total	1,676,000	2,122,000

Shipments.

	To-day.	Year Ago.
Toledo	379,000	120,000
Chicago and Milwaukee	375,000	8,000
Duluth and Minneapolis	75,000	257,000
St. Louis and Detroit	129,000	130,000
Seaboard	256,000	780,000
Total	1,214,000	1,296,000

In the matter of prices for wheat Toledo leads both Chicago and St. Louis, as will be seen from the following:

	Opening. Sept.	Closing Sept.	Oct.	Dec.	Year Ago. Dec.
Toledo	78 1-2	77 1-2	78 1-4	80 1-4	105
Chicago	76 1-4	75 1-4	76 1-4	78 1-4	102
St. L.	71 5-8	70 3-4	72	75 1-4	101

Toledo as a grain center holds the foremost place on the chain of lakes, and her geographical position assures a continuance of the situation.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Third Day of the Session in Toledo.

Talks by Learned Men on How the Children of the Present Day Should be Taught.

The first hour of the afternoon session of the Teachers' institute yesterday was devoted to a talk on "Pedagogics," by Prof. Coler.

Mr. Hutchinson followed with an instructive talk on "Number Work," and gave good methods of teaching number writing. An interesting discussion followed this, led by Mr. Hutchinson and Mrs. Ecker.

Prof. Brumbaugh then continued his talk on "Geography."

In addition to the teachers present yesterday are the following:

Kate Milan, Milly Nitschke, Ola M. Fleming, Ora E. Smith, F. A. Kingfield, Maumee; Emma Miner, Louise Cook, Mrs. M. H. Throp, C. M. Morlock, Anna Kruse, Mertie Whitney, Lettie Throp, Alice Whitney, Kate Sullivan, Mame Weideman, Delia Keleher, E. Franc Tailor, Fannie Carrington, Edna Andrews, Sylvania; Susie Kay, Sarah Metzger, C. Lillelund, Mary Seubert, Addie Douglas, H. A. Brown, J. Douglas, Eleanor Pennock, Sadie Soper, Mary Brennen, Irene Schafer, E. D. Flanagen, Lou M. Bickel.

About two hundred teachers were present this morning After the opening exercises, conducted by Prof. Coler, Prof. Brumbaugh continued his talk on "Language." In addition to the list of writers of the Elizabethian school, he gave a classified list, and the peculiarities of each period, as follows:

Metaphysical period, conceits and bodily beauty: Downe, Browne, Wither, Drummond, Herrick, Carew, Herbert, Suckling, Lovelace, Vaughan, Crashan, Sawdys.

Classical, or third period, exact, and made perfect from correct events: Waller, Cowley, Dryden, Butler, Addison, Pope.

Decorative, or fourth period, word painters: Tennyson, Mrs. Browning, Jean Ingelow, etc.

Natural writers: Young, Scott, Byron, Burns, Moore, Goldsmith, Johnson, Keats, Shelly.

"The first movement in literature," said he, "was to bring the soul out; the second, when nature was brought out.

"If I were teaching a class in geography or history, I would not ask a better text book than Goldsmith's poetry.

"But what was to become of the writers who were to come after these periods—when soul and nature had been so perfectly written? Would they enter into a new field of writing? No; they simply embellished the old, and, during the last 50 years this decorative school of writers have made their appearance, at the head of which, is Lord Alfred Tennyson. His magnificent embellishment of thought seems to sing itself into one's heart and cannot be forgotten.

"After Tennsyson comes Mrs. Browning, Jean Ingelow, etc.

He stated that he had not mentioned Milton's name in these schools, because he was too large—great but not popular—and wrote for future posterity rather than for the people around him. In connection with Milton he also spoke of Gray.

The discussion was entertaining and was received with marked attention.

The program for Thursday is as follows:

9 to 9:15, Opening—Prof. Brumbaugh.
9:15 to 9:55, Arithmetic—Prof. Hutchinson.
9:55 to 10:10, Discussion.
10:10 to 10:50, Pedagogics—Prof. Coler.
10:50 to 11:00, Discussion.
11:00 to 11:40, Grammar, Prof. Brumbaugh.

Afternoon.

2:00 to 2:40, History—Prof. Coler.
2:40 to 2:45, Recess.
2:45 to 3:25, How to Build a Vocabulary—Prof. Brumbaugh.
3:25 to 3:30, Recess.
3:30 to 4:10, Primary Geography—Prof. Hutchinson.

Prof. Coler presented the following good points in Pedagogics:

"Teachers should thoroughly understand the laws of hygiene and should have good ventilation at home and school." He would encourage manual training to the fullest extent and advise that "the training be commenced at home, by allowing the child to wait upon itself and do ordinary work. "Teachers should appeal to the child and he would advise discarding public reprimanding in the school room."

Added to the list of teachers already given are:

Jennie Vallette.
Jessie Marker.
Sanford B. Stanberg, West Toledo.
Sadie Reynolds.
Daisy Farley.
Louise C. Gafill.
Jeannette Claflin.
Susie Cooley, Vavaria, Kan.

NO CHANGE OF GRADE.

Residents of Broadway Meet to Protest

Against the Proposition of the Lake Shore Company to Raise the Grade of the Street at the Broadway Crossing.

A large representation of the property holders of Broadway, of the Fifth and Ninth wards, met at the store of Botefuhr & Manchester last evening to take action in the proposed change of the established grade which the Lake Shore railroad desires when their new Broadway bridge is constructed. Dr. Duncan presided.

The meeting was unanimous in insisting that the established grade remain undisturbed. A majority voted in favor of the roadway being the width of the pavement; that the sidewalks be eight feet wide, and that there be no truss in the center of the bridge. The present bridge has been declared unsafe. It was an old structure removed from another locality, it is said, 12 years ago, and should never have been permitted by the city to disgrace so important a street as Broadway. The railroad company desires to raise the bridge over three feet above the grade, thereby greatly injuring the street, against which there is a strong and united protest.

The matter comes before the street committee this evening. Among those present last evening were Messrs. G. Caniff, Heitzman, O. Duden, Dr. Lawless, Manchester, Bricker, Kinker, James Coyle, Manchester, jr., and Mrs. Rosa L. Segur.

IT IS DEPUTY OIL INSPECTOR HALL,

The Sherman Crowd Give the Forakerites Another Stop in the Race.

The fight for deputy oil inspector of this district is over, the appointment has been made and out of the fight developes a new state of affairs with reference to the relation of certain leaders toward each other.

This fight shows that there has been a split in the Sherman crowd and that the two leaders can no longer agree.

The facts are these. Postmaster Brown endorsed Robert Adams, a law student in his office, as the right man to inspect the oil in this district. He not only endorsed Mr. Adams, but personally urged his appointment. Heretofore the word of the P. M. usually settled matters, but it seems there has been a change in affairs.

Col. Bonner recommended the appointment of Charles Hall, grocerykeeper on Broadway, and yesterday afternoon Mr. Hall's commission arrived. Mr. Brown and Mr. Bonner speak as they pass by, but they love each other not.

Doc Smith, who has scratched aspirant Griffin's back on more than one occasion, expected to step from the big man's knee into the office. However, within the last few months the big man's political anatomy has become somewhat attenuated and when Mr. Smith, M. D., leaped, he fell short several feet.

DEWEY DEVELOPING.

The Irrepressible Cleveland Hustler in the Harness.

He Re-Sells the Ketcham Lot to Spitzer,

And Transacts the Final Deal of the Davis Property—Spitzer to Erect a Magnificent Building.

The irrepressible J. T. Dewey, of Cleveland, is just booming Madison street real estate.

It will be remembered that about two weeks ago he sold the J. B. Ketcham lot adjoining the Toledo club to J. S. Rodgers and Judge J. H. Doyle for $22,000. This morning he resold the same lot to C. M. and A. L. Spitzer for $24,000 spot cash.

The Messrs. Spitzer propose improving the property by building thereon a fine block.

Mr. Dewey also closed the Davis-Spitzer deal this morning, whereby Messrs. Spitzer secure the Toledo Transfer company's property on Madison street. The price paid was $25,500.

C. M. & A. L. Spitzer returned from Chicago last evening and have plans perfected for the proposed new building on the corner of Huron and Madison streets.

It will be 120 feet square, seven stories high and will be built of stone. It will be, when finished, the finest and most complete building in Toledo and one of the finest in the state. It will have all the most modern conveniences in the matter of design, heating, lighting, elevators, etc. It will be, in short, patterned after one of the handsomest Chicago buildings.

Mr. Dewey, who, by the way, has several other deals on hand that are not fully matured, would be an acquisition to Toledo if he could be induced to locate here.

SOCIAL SCIENCE.

Proceedings of the Meeting in Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 31.—At 9:30 this morning the chairman of the department of health of the American Social Science association, Mr. Frederick Peterson, of New York, opened the session by some well chosen remarks pertinent to the department and was followed by the report of the secretary, W. D. Granger, M. D., of New York, on the "Work of the health department since its organization."

An interesting paper was read by Matthew D. Field, M. D., of New York, on the "Emanation and commitment of the public insane" in New York city. The most important paper of the session was that read by Dr. Parsons, of Sing Sing, on "The management of incipient and mild cases of mild derangement."

On the close of this paper one hour was consumed in discussing the preceding papers, after which Henry Lind Taylor, M. D., of New York, read a paper on "American children hygienically considered," followed by a debate on the former paper.

SINKING FUND TRUSTEES

Submit a Proposition to the Gas Board

If the Gas People Deposits $20,000 of Its Receipts With the Sinking Fund Board It Will Advance $30,000.

The sinking fund trustees held a brief business meeting yesterday afternoon to consider the question of buying a block of the recent issue of gas bonds.

On motion of Mr. E. W. Tolerton it was decided that if the gas trustees would deposit with the sinking fund board $20,000 of its earned receipts, which it holds, but under the decision of the court cannot use, the sinking fund trustees will buy $30,000 of the gas bonds issued in July.

The motion was unanimously adopted and if the proposition is accepted, as it undoubtedly will be, the gas trustees can go ahead and buy pumps.

The only other matter before the board was the payment of recent judgments against the city, amounting in all to about $1,500.

A FINE BUILDING

To be Erected by the Toledo Transfer Company

On a Site Recently Purchased on Erie Street—It Will be a Model Structure.

Inside property is certainly moving at a lively rate of late.

The Bee some time ago announced that the Toledo Transfer company had purchased 126 feet on Erie street between Madison and Adams streets, adjoining the Colton block.

The property including the building now occupied by the trasfer company were sold this week and the buildings will be torn down, thereby compelling the occupants to seek quarters elsewhere. The company has concluded to erect a building of its own on the site purchased on Erie street some time ago. The structure will be 126 feet wide and occupy the whole length of the lot. It will be three stories high and when completed will be one of the finest livery barns in the state of Ohio.

A TELEGRAPH SHOOT

Between Toledo and Columbus Trap Shooters

To Come Off September 5 for the Sporting Review Team Cup and the Championship.

When the Toledo team won the Sporting Review trap-shooters' team trophy at the North Baltimore match recently, they were challenged by the Sherman Rod and Gun club, of Columbus.

The conditions under which the cup is held provide that a match be shot within 30 days after the challenge is made. Consequently Secretary Geo. Osborn, of the Toledo team, accepted the challenge this morning. The match will be shot Monday, September 5.

It will be what is called a telegraphic shoot. The contestants can not get away from their respective cities very well and each team will shoot at home and exchange scores by telegraph. One member of the Toledo team will go to Columbus to shoot and verify the score and Columbus will do the same with regard to Toledo.

The Toledo team will consist of Geo. Osborn, J. S. Acklin, G. A. Spross, and O. S. Carter, with E. A. Langden as alternate.

Mr. Acklin will shoot at Columbus.

RAILWAY TELEGRAPHERS.

They Present Their Demand for an Increase in Pay.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 31.—Yesterday afternoon the Order of Railway Telegraphers, through its grievance committee, presented to the officials of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern road a demand for an increase in salary ranging from $10 to $50 for telegraphers along the entire system.

Chief Ramsey, of the order, is here looking after the interests of his men. Some talk of a strike is being indulged in.

THE TENNIS TOURNEY.

Will Gosline is Coming to the Front.

The Young Ladies From Cincinnati Winning.

A. H. Coldham and B. P. Hollister Will Have a Tussel—The Association Elects Officers—This Morning's Games.

The tennis tournament progresses merrily. The rain yesterday delayed the afternoon games, but when the playing did commence after 4 o'clock, some lively work was done that made up for lost time.

The first game was played in gentlemen's doubles, H. S. Woodbury and George Shaw, of Toledo, against B. P. Hollister and Nat Emerson, of Cincinnati.

This is the first state tournament in which Woodbury and Shaw have entered, but they made the Cincinnati experts do some tall hustling. It was a most exciting game. The first set was taken by Hollister and Emerson, score 6-4. In the second set the Toledo boys took three games in succession and it looked as if they would win the set, but Cincinnati took a hitch in its suspenders, metaphorically speaking, of course, and soiled in, winning the set and game, score 6-4, 7-5.

Miss Sprague, Cleveland, and Miss Jordan, of Cincinnati, played an exciting game in the preliminary round of the ladies' singles. Mis Jordan won; score, 6-2, 7-5.

Ashton Coldham and H. P. Dodge then took a turn in the gentlemen's singles and had divided honors evenly when darkness stopped the game. Mr. Dodge won the first set, 6—4, and Mr. Coldham the second, just reversing the score, 6—4, in his favor.

A business meeting of the state association was held last evening. Organizations represented were, the Outing club, Toledo; East End club, Cleveland; Price Hill club, Cincinnati; Cincinnati Tennis club; Volunteer club, Cincinnati. The champion of the state, T. S. Beckwith, of Cleveland, called the meeting to order in the absence of President Worthington.

The Walnut Hill club, of Cincinnati, was admitted to the Ohio association.

It was decided to hold the next tournament at Hotel Victory, Put-in-Bay, if Mr. Tillotson would arrange five first-class courts.

Officers were elected as follows: President, George Worthington, of Cleveland; vice-president, L. C. Rose, of Cincinnati; secretary, A. B. Horton, of Cincinnati; treasurer, H. W. Suydam, of Toledo; executive committee, H. Simmons, Dayton; S. H. Wilder, Cincinnati; H. J. Whitaker, Marion, and the officers.

An endeavor will be made to increase the membership of the association, bringing in other cities than those already represented.

There were some surprises this morning. Yesterday H. S. Woodbury, a debutant, and ex-State Champion W. W. Coldham played two sets, each winning one. This morning they played the rubber. Mr. Coldham pushed right ahead and the game soon stood 5—2 in his favor. Woodbury stuck to it pluckily and gradually worked upwards one point at a time. The score for the set stood successively 5—2, 5—3 and 5—4 in Coldham's favor. Then Woodbury made it even and then finally won the set and game as follows: 2—6; 6—4; 7—5. It was a well-fought contest on both sides. Mr. Woodbury was showered with compliments and congratulations.

B. P. Hollister, of Cincinnati, and George Shaw, of Toledo, met this morning in their first game in singles. Mr. Hollister, who is a careful, easy, determined player, won in two straight sets; score, 6—4; 6—2.

Misses Closterman and Jordan, of Cincinnati, beat Misses Baker and Hitchcock in the ladies' double this morning. Score 6—2; 6—2. They will play Miss Whitaker and Mrs. Lloyd in the finals.

Beckwith, of Cleveland, will not enter the doubles, so the game in the first round goes to Dodge and Gosline by default. Hollister and Emerson will play the Coldham brothers and hte winners will play Dodge and Gosline. It will be a hard-fought battle whichever way it turns out.

Miss Closterman, of Cincinnati, gave evidence that the praise bestowed upon her by her Cincinnati friends was well merited, for she completed her set with Mrs. Lloyd, winning; score of the game 6—1; 6—1.

A. H. Coldham and H. P. Dodge came together again this morning to finish the game that stood one all last evening. Mr. Coldham won the set and game, 6—3.

At the close of the above game four players remained in the gentlemen's singles, which possibly means the championship for Ohio, for the winner will play Champion Beckwith for that place. They were H. S. Woodbury, Will Gosline and A. H. Coldham of Toledo, and B. P. Hollister of Cincinnati.

Woodbury and Gosline were anxious to come together and narrow down the number. They played an exciting game. Gosline won one set, 6—4; and Woodbury another, 6—2. Then the struggle commenced. The score of the set, which was won by Will Gosline, tellls the story. It was as follows: 1—0; 2—0; 3—0; 4—0; 5—0; 5—1; 6—1. This places Gosline in waiting for the winner of the Hollister-Coldham game, to compete in the finals. Gosline has surprised his friends. Excitement runs high as the contest progresses. Champion Beckwith watches the players closely, taking in their various points that he may balk them when the grand game of the tournament comes off.

Advice to Mothers of Fretful Babies

828 Huron St., Toledo, O., July 17, '92.
Hand Medicine Co., Gentlemen:

My baby is now three months old and has had colic all her life. We gave her all kinds of remedies without any beneficial effect. I was almost discouraged in trying anything else when a friend told me of your Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I gave her 12 drops which acted like a charm. Now as soon as I discover she has wind colic I give her one or two doses which relieves her entirely. I want to advise all mothers who have fretful babies to use Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. I will hereafter always keep it in the house.

CINTHY ANN'S NEW HOUSE.

I built a house for Cinthy Ann—an' made it red an' rich,
An' rigged it up with cuperlows an' lightnin' rods an' sich,
An' built a wide plazzer roun' ware she could set an' sew,
An' take her knittin' work an' gab with ol' Kentuck Snow.

An' Cinthy Ann was happy fer about a week or so,
An' then she foun' the chimbley draft wuz workin' ruther slow;
For the smoke came in her kitchen an' she cou'in't bake her pies,
An' her pudd'n' only sizzled, an' her johnny-cake wouldn't rise.

An' soon she foun' her buttry wuz too small to ho' her stuff,
For apple sass and blackb'ry jell it wasn't large enough,
An' all her things were scrooched right in ez tight ez she could cram,
Her pickles an' her ketchup, an' her elderberry jam.

An' then a dog-day storm came on an' drizzled for a week,
An' the roof aroun' the chimbley had to go an' spring a leak,
And mildewed four er my w'ite shirts, thet she hed made an' biled,
An' her winter muff was roolned an' her weddin' dress wuz spiled.

An' then sez I to Cinthy, w'en she sut down to cry,
"Ther ain't no home upon this side the mansions in the sky
But what has some leak in the roof, some trouble in the flue,
Some mis'ble cluttered buttry—" an' poor Cinthy said, "Boo hoo."

We build our pooty houses thet are tarnal fine to see,
An' we stick 'em up with cuperlows an' sich like filigree,
An' in our dreams they're fair ez heaven, but let us wait a week,
This pooty palace of our dreams is sure to spring a leak.

There is a frame house in Lawrence, Kan., that is six feet long, six feet wide, and six feet high. It has six windows with six panes of glass and shelters a family of six people.

Mr. Gladstone is above suspicion of flirting with Queen Victoria, but it is a little queer that Mrs. Gladstone required him to telegraph to herself from every station on the road to Southampton. And he did it like a dutiful husband.

Among the few women who have attained distinction as composers of music, the gifted daughter of the English Bishop of Gloucester, Miss Frances Ellicott, deserves a prominent place, as her works include every form of intricate musical composition.

A Berlinese septuagenarian just dead leaves a daily expense account, kept since he was 18 years old, which contains the following curious items: "From 18 to 73 years of age, smoked $10,433 worth of cigars;" "in 15 years drank 28,786 glasses of Munich beer, half of which were small glasses, and 36,081 glasses of cognac and other liquors, representing the sum of $5,356."

Henry Gardner, assisted by a boy, was unharnessing a horse at Paterson, N. J., the other day, when lightning knocked him the boy and the horse down. The barn was perforated with little holes, and on Mr. Gardner's body was photographed the picture of a star that was perforated on the metal of his suspenders. It was of a bluish black color, and remained but half an hour, gradually disappearing.

When Eastport, Me., was partly destroyed by fire several years ago the responses to the appeal for aid were so generous that when the relief committee finished their work they had had on hand $30,000 for which there appeared to be no immediate use. The amount was invested in bonds, and the income has been paid annually into the town treasury, but now some of the sufferers have brought a bill of equity against the committee to compel them to distribute the last cent. The case is to be contested.

Petroleum, when stored in bulk, either in tank steamships or in tanks on shore, must be provided with means of expansion when the temperature rises. A drawback in appliances has been the admitting of air on the contraction of the oil. The manager of the large works in West Hartlepool, England, has devised an appartus that will prevent the access of the air. In cylindrical domes on the top of the tanks he fits pistons, the rods projecting through the tops and moving freely. The pistons rest on the surface of the oil and rise and fall when it expands and contracts.

One of the bridesmaids of an American girl who is to be married in London, rehonor of the prospective bride. Forget-me-nots were arranged in the shape of hearts and true lovers' knots upon the table, and all the decorations were in the color of the blue flowers. Each guest was provided with a cluster of the blossoms to wear. Forget-me-nots were to be the principal flowers at the wedding, and the bride presented to her bridesmaids pins in the form of the flower in blue enamel, with a diamond dewdrop glistening in the center.

The home at Chio, Cal., of General John Bidwell, the prohibition candidate for president, is, to judge from the description of it, a veritable terestrial paradise. The estate of 25,000 acres, naturally beautiful, has been so adorned and improved by the landscape architect as to make it probably the finest country place in the state. One of its most noteworthy attractions is a handsome park filled with deer, and lying just west of the general's house, and flowers bloom everywhere. General Bidwell is one of the most extensive fruit-growers in California, and his orchards and canneries give employment to great numbers of people. No wine is made from the grapes, which he raises in abundance, they being devoted entirely to table use.

The plague of mice which has been causing such widespread disaster in Scotland of late continues and increases, and a special commission of the department of agriculture is now at work taking evidence in the matter with a view to devising some effective remedy. Some interesting points have been brought out during the progress of the commission. Quite a number of farmers attributed the plague of mice to the killing of the birds of prey and weasels by the gentlemen-owners shooting over the estates, and by the keepers who killed the weasels because the weasels destroyed the game. One man said the keepers had killed a hundred weasels on his farm and the adjoining estate. The mice had increased and destroyed the pastures, and he had lost $5,000 on sheep in consequence.

AN AWFUL EXPERIENCE

The drummer had a crowd around him in the office of the country hotel listening to his stories.

"The worst experience I ever went through," he said, "happened about ten years ago in the mountain districts of Georgia, when I was doing the southern trade. I got lost one night trying to reach a store about ten miles from the railroad, and I guess I must have ridden the poor mule I was on about twenty-five miles up the creek and through barren fields, looking for some place where I could get shelter and feed. Along about midnight I caught a faint gleam of light across a meadow, and made for it as fast as I could. It came through a four-paned window in a log hut, hardly big enough to accommodate an extra visitor, but still better than the blue canopy of the heaven for a covering.

"So I rode up and 'halloed,' as is the custom of the country, but failed to get a response; so I got down and went to the door, expecting every instant a dog or two would take me in, but to my surprise I reached the door unmolested. There I knocked and continued to knock, and finally to rattle and bang, but still no answer. I tried to see through the window, but a bit of white curtain shut off the view and the light was dim and flickering, as if from the flames of an open wood fire smouldering. Thinking there was no one at home and I might as well make myself comfortable, I found the latch-string, pulled it for admission, and in I went. There was only one big room, and it was peculiar and it was not vacant. The beds, cupboard, table and usual furniture of one of these mountaineer's castles were all there, and seated around the fireplace was a grizzled old fellow of 60, a woman, evidently his wife, another near her age and six or seven boys and girls ranging from 6 to 20 or more, with three dogs curled up on the hearth in front.

"In the center of the silent circle about the fire was a vacant chair evidently waiting for an occupant. Everybody seemed to be intently studying the flickering flames, and no attention whatever was paid to me.

"'Good evening,' I said, coming forward a step or two. 'I hope you will excuse me for this intrusion, but I didn't know there was anybody at home, and I thought I'd just come in and wait for some one to come.'

"Then I stopped, uneasily, for nobody seemed to care a continental whether I was there or not, and I began to feel as a person always does when he begins to realize that he is getting a big dose of snub right in the neck. However, I'd been snubbed before, and was besides both hungry and tired, and I didn't propose to give it up until I'd done my best with the situation. So I began my speech again, but before I had said three words the old man lifted his head and saw me.

He didn't speak then, either, but rising slowly, till he looked like he was about seven feet tall, he pointed toward the vacant chair and nodded for me to take it. And you should have seen that old chap's face! There was something in its withered grimness and hairy distortions that made the blood run cold. Somehow I felt there was something wrong somewhere, and instead of taking the chair I slipped my hand in my overcoat pocket and got a good grip on my big self-cocking pistol which I carried for emergencies. The old fellow didn't notice this, however, and turning to the cupboard at his back he took out a butcher knife, with a 10-inch blade, as shining as a whetstone could make it, and began to chatter to himself and gibber like an idiot.

"By this time I was getting very nervous and made a move to back out quietly, but it was not to be so. The old man, with a shriek, made a jump at me with the knife lifted ready to strike, and before I knew what to do, or had done, I had my pistol out and fired, and the old man was weltering in his blood at my feet, with a hole in his forehead big enough to stick a champagne cork in. Naturally I was terribly excited, but not so much so as not to be surprised that our terrible encounter had not disturbed in the slightest the family gathering around the fire. They sat there unmoved, each head bowed to the chest, still studying the flickering flames as when I first came in.

"For a moment I was so overcome by the shock of it that I was speechless and incapable of motion, but with an effort I rallied, and fairly yelling to the people still sitting around, I clutched at one of the women and gave her a shaking that would have aroused a stone statue. But it had no effect on her, except that when I let go of her she fell to the floor in a limp lump. Then I made a wild clutch at the young man next to her, and with a shake of double strength, I shouted to him to wake up. But he made no sign, except to fall out of his chair when I let go of him. By this time I was nearer crazy than I ever was in my life before. Finding my efforts to rouse the family ineffectual, I began to investigate for a cause.

"It wasn't long until the investigation was a perfect success, either, but the result was frightful.

"Every person sitting in that fearful semi-circle was dead—every throat cut from ear to ear—and it was this which had caused them to appear to me as buried in study over the fire. I kicked the dogs, and they moved not. Dead as a door nail, all of them.

"There was no question but that the old man had done it, and that by some strange fancy he had put the vacant chair in the ghastly circle, hoping to fill it as he had filled the others, fixing them in their places and then sitting down among them waiting—waiting.

"For what, heaven only knows.

"It was at least ten minutes before I had recovered sufficiently to get out of the terrible place, and as I stepped across the body of the old murderer my foot slipped as if I had stepped in molasses, but I did not stay to see what it was. I think I know. Any way, I got out of there in a hurry and made off into the darkness anywhere.

"Six weeks afterward I woke up in a hospital in Atlanta, and when I told the hideous story nobody believed me. They said I had struck a jug of 'moonshine' in the mountains and it had gone to my brain. But I knew better. I——"

"Young man,' said a tall old customer, rising from a baggage truck which had been pressed into service for a chair and interrupting the story teller, "you are right. I know you are right. I'll swear to the truth of your statement before any court in this state. Young fellow," extending his hand, "put your hand right thar. I was the old feller you killed that night."

And nobody said a word after that.—California Paper.

The illustration of the great engineering work of the world will be one of the most interesting features of the transportation exhibit at the world's fair. Following the announcement that the large and very perfect model of the Forth bridge has been secured comes the application of the management of the Gothard Railway company, of Switzerland, for space in which to show a large model or relief map of that road. This will illustrate in the most graphic manner possible the famous St. Gothard tunnel and the manner in which mountain inclines are surmounted by modern engineering science.

The queen of Holland and her mother, the queen regent, met with a most enthusiastic reception on their tour through the northern provinces of Holland, where no royal person has been for about 20 years. There have been great festivities, processions, regattas, etc. At Leeuwarden the young queen received from 800 women a beautiful Frisian dress; the cap was especially costly, being embroidered with gold and ornamented with diamonds.

ALWAYS GIVING SATISFACTION.

Brandreth's Pills have always given satisfaction. In fifty years there has been no complaint of them. That is about their life in the United States and millions of persons have used them. There is no doubt that they have established themselves by merit alone. They cure rheumatism, dyspepsia, piles, liver complaint, biliousness, and any disease arising from an impure state of the blood. One or two at night on an empty stomach, for a week or two, will keep you in good form and tone up the system. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

Sold in every drug store or medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

A photographer in the Tyron made a negative of ten tourists against a background of pine woods. When he developed the plate a faithful presentation of a large bear in the act of making for the denser timber appeared in the edge of the forest. Neither the man with the camera nor any of those in the group had known that the brute was near.

Bogus Statistics on Wages From New York.

The Tall Sycamore of the Wabash Chats Briefly on the Politics of the Day.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The report of Commissioner Peck, of the labor bureau of New York, given out from Albany last night, which shows an alleged large increase in wages and production in New York during the year following the enactment of the McKinley law, attracted a great deal of attention here. The peculiar circumstances attending its publication, especially the presence of Senator Hill at Albany, were adduced by the republicans to show that the latter had his knife out and was adopting this indirect method of fighting the ticket until Mr. Cleveland should sue for terms on the basis of turning the New York patronage over to him in case of election. This, notwithstanding the fact that Senator Hill, on being interviewed, said he had not seen the report and knew nothing about it. While some of the democrats here are inclined to look upon Senator Hill's inactive course with suspicion, those who are on the inside say that there is no cause for alarm, and as to the Peck report, it amounts to nothing when the manner of its preparation is taken into consideration.

Senator Dan Voorhees, of Indiana, known to the public under the popular sobriquet, "The Tall Sycamore of the Wabash," stopped over here on his way from New York to Vincennes, Ind. Senator Voorhees said to your correspondent this evening apropose of the Peck report: "It really amounts to nothing. I have had enough experience covering thirty years to know that voluntary reports made by parties heavily interested personally, as these manufacturers are, are valueless in the investigation of a cause in which they are the defendants. That there were no increases in wages during the year following the enactment of the McKinley bill is a matter of universal notoriety. From the stump the speakers have been unavailingly looking for the man whose wages were raised by the McKinley law. The great contests which have been in progress between the manufacturers and their employes, and which are still on, have not been and are not being waged for increased wages, but to prevent reductions."

"How about the report that Senator Hill is in a measure responsible for this Peck report?"

"Nonsense," responded the senator, "I have just returned from New York and I know from those who are managing the affairs of the campaign that there is absolutely no alarm there on account of Mr. Hill's position. At the proper time and in his own way Mr. Hill will give the country and his party indisputable evidence of his complete and unswerving loyalty. Mr. Hill is a brave man and a wise man, but like all men he makes mistakes. He came here under peculiar circumstances. He was an avowed candidate for the presidency, treated as such by the friends of the opposing candidates—oftentimes unfairly treated, sometimes maliciously, unjustly I thought—yet he kept his temper. After the convention he showed courage and nerve and has acted, perhaps, better in the senate than he did before the nomination. I think he should have wired his congratulations the next morning to Mr. Cleveland. The only thing, in my opinion, for a defeated candidate to do is to get in line. When a man sulks he loses his prestige with his party and the self-respect of his friends. But though Hill did not do as I should have done, I know of my personal knowledge absolutely that he will vindicate his loyalty to the ticket. I know what he intends to do and I can assure every democrat that his course will be satisfactory and commendable."

"What do you think of the situation, senator?"

"I am getting old," replied the famous Indianian, "and my opinions are slower of formation and more careful than they used to be. I think it is still too early to venture an opinion which would be valuable. In my own state of Indiana I know pretty well what the situation is and I feel quite certain that Mr. Cleveland will carry the state. The democratic party is harmonious and in good fighting trim. I was opposed to Mr. Cleveland's nomination before the convention and I expected that there would be some evidences of dissatisfaction, 'kicking,' as it is called nowadays. I was also a little afraid of the soldier vote. I am glad to say I was mistaken. I have yet to hear of a democratic Achilles in Indiana. On the other hand the republicans are having much trouble. In almost every county there are one or more republicans of prominence brewing war medicine. Harrison has given the country a good administration from the standpoint of his, in my opinion, mistaken policies, but he has made many enemies in his own state on account of patronage, etc. The president is cold and unforgiving by nature and he has taken no trouble to heal the wounds he has made and now it is too late. The situation in Indiana therefore I can say is extremely satisfactory to us."

"And New York?"

"I think we will carry New York. There is new blood on the moon over there. The managers are confident. Hill, I know, is all right. Tammany must be. It is Tammany's business to elect the ticket. Old Adjutant General Thomas, of Delaware, used to say when he was left in charge of the war department: 'I must do my duty, for the eyes of all Delaware are upon me.' The eyes of New York and the country are on Tammany and Tammany must and will do its duty. Cleveland ought to be elected. I think he will be."

Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, was in the city to-day on his way home from Maine, where he has been on a stumping tour. In conversation with a reporter he gave some interesting information regarding certain political stars of the first magnitude whose movements are the source of a good deal of trepidation at the White House observatory.

"Mr. Blaine is taking considerable interest in political matters," he said. "In fact, I am assured that he has never been more keenly interested in a campaign than in this one. I refer, of course, to the presidential campaign, as well as local matters of his own state. I was told by both Mr. Boutelle and Mr. Manley that Mr. Blaine will take part in the campaign but whether by writing or speech making is not yet decided. No demand has been made upon him for speeches, for everyone realizes that he is in deep trouble. Mr. Reed will go west in a short time and enter heartily into the campaign. He will make speeches and be a general all around hard worker. At present he is attending to his own state. I believe he will be returned to congress by about 2,000 majority. The republican prospects in Maine were never more favorable. I attended and participated in a number of political meetings and the enthusiasm ran high."

THE ARKANSAS ELECTION

The Greatest Campaign in the State's History.

The Democratic Plan of Organization—How the New Election Law Will Work—Senator Berry's Opinion of the Results.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 31.—The political campaign has reached fever heat in this state, and every county, township, city and town will have a political rally within the next few days, preceding September 5, the day of the election.

Never has a more bitter political warfare raged in Arkansas since the days of reconstruction. The republicans, by putting a complete state ticket in the field, made the populists a cats'-paw to rake political chestnuts out of the democratic fire. The republican party, as is conceded by its ablest leaders, has not one more vote today than it would have had in 1890 with a straight ticket in the field. Then its total vote, combined with the union laborites, was defeated by Governor Eagle by 15,000 votes.

J. B. Littler, the great political apostle, of the populists and editor of the Arkansas Farmer, their leading state organ, a month ago stated to your correspondent that they would poll but 20,000 votes. Although the populist vice presidential candidate and a host of smaller fry of the populist persuasion have been stumping the state, they have been met on the hustings by able democrats, and in every instance to the discomfiture of the former. Carnahan has become waspish through the neglect and contumely visited upon him during his canvass. Whipple, the republican gubernatorial candidate, has confirmed the belief expressed in his famous Hall letter that it would not be necessary to make many speeches, as Carnahan was doing the republicans more good than he could do by giving them aid "materially, indirectly."

Reports from the most reliable sources all over the state show that the strength of the Populists has diminished rather than increased since the beginning of the campaign. If this be true, the democratic state ticket will be elected by at least 25,000 plurality in September.

A Strong Organization.

This is due to the wonderful energy of party leaders in the organization of democratic clubs. Every township in the country and every ward in each city has its democratic club, while the opposition has a very weak local organization.

The weaker lights are attracted by the strong front of effective organization, brass bands and torchlight processions, and this the democracy of the state has been shrewd enough to see and look after. The state central committee, headed by Hon. Joe W. House, a man of brains, nerve, a cool head and one of the shrewdest politicians in the state, has sent able speakers into counties that have not heard national issues discussed by any but local solons for 20 years. This will have the effect of bringing out the full vote of these counties. Gen. Weaver's appearance in our political arena will be met by the ablest men in the state, and it is not thought that his speeches will produce any perceptible change in the political arithmetic of the state.

The New Election Law.

The most doubtful and uncertain element in the coming election is the probable effect of the new election law. Under this law the ballots are printed by and at the expense of the several counties for county tickets, and all state tickets by the state board of election commissioners. Each county board of election commissioners, composed in each county of two democrats and one republican (one populist in three instances, only) is the returning board for that county, and the secretary of state finally certifies to the returns of the county boards.

BONDS FOR BONUSES.

Legality of Their Issue to be Tested.

Claim That It is Unconstitutionally Sustained and the Case Sent to the Supreme Court.

Columbus, Aug. 31.—The question of the legality of the legislative acts authorizing the issuing of bonds by cities, towns and villages for the purpose of paying bonuses to manufacturing establishments locating in their midst is at last to be tested in the supreme court.

For many years the legislature has passed such acts, while many of the members, even some of those who voted for the bills, protested that they were unconstitutional. Among three important cases filed in the supreme court to-day is one to test the validity of a special act of this character, and it will probably prove the death knell of this class of vicious legislation.

The suit is instituted by a taxpayer who is acting in a dual capacity, as will be seen by the title. This is the case of John H. Kissell, on behalf of the incorporated village of Columbus Grove, against the incorporated village of Columbus Grove, on error to the circuit court of Putnam county.

This is an important case and involves the constitutionality of legislative acts authorizing villages, townships, etc., to issue bonds for manufacturing purposes.

An act was passed April 23, 1891, authorizing the council of the village of Columbus Grove to pass an ordinance submitting to a vote of the people a proposition to issue $25,000 in bonds to aid and encourage manufacturing. The mayor issued a proclamation for a special election to be held June 22, 1891, and the proposition carried by a vote of 325 to 18. Kissell objects to taking the people's money by way of taxes and presenting it to the corporation.

The town is big enough for him, and he raises the question of constitutionality under the sixth section of article 8 of the constitution, which prohibits a city, town or township from loaning its credit to or in aid of any such company.

Further the objector says it is a special, and not a general act, specifying that a village having a population of 1,600 may vote, etc. He asked for a temporary restraining order to prohibit the issue of bonds. There was no common pleas judge in the village, and Judge Thomas of the probate court allowed the injunction.

A motion to dissolve the injunction was heard subsequently before a common pleas judge, the motion overruled and the defendant given leave to plead.

Upon the hearing the injunction was made perpetual. In the circuit court Prosecuting Attorney John P. Bailey, who ran as the democratic candidate for attorney general last year, asked leave to withdraw his answer and demurrer to the petition, which the court allowed him to do, and then overruled the demurrer.

Bailey asked for leave to refile his answer and was allowed to do so, and the court found that the answer didn't constitute a defense and made the injunction perpetual. Kissell, the enjoiner, made application to the court for leave to show how much work his attorney, A. V. Watts, had done, and how much it was worth, but the court refused to allow the witness to be sworn. Kissell got his injunction, and wants a fee for his attorney.

The Gladstone and Labouchere Controversy.

The Grand Old Man Shields the Queen From Any Part in the Alleged Snub.

London, Aug. 31.—Four letters of the Labouchere-Gladstone controversy will be published in the London Truth some day this week. In the first one Mr. Gladstone tells Mr. Labouchere that he alone is responsible for Mr. Labouchere being left out of the government and that the queen had nothing to do with it.

To this Mr. Labouchere replies that no doubt it is very chivalrous for Mr. Gladstone to take all the responsibility, but hints at his lingering belief that her majesty had a finger in the pie.

Mr. Gladstone writes a pleasant letter in answer, but makes no reference to Mr. Labouchere's somewhat ungallant belief.

To this Mr. Labouchere replies, gently alluding to this lack of reference and takes it that he is perhaps not so very far wrong in suggesting interference by her majesty.

Mr. Labouchere added that he was too stalwart a radical not to support a government pledged to reforms. He only regretted that those reforms did not include the abolition of the house of lords and the disendowment of the established church.

Mr. Gladstone replied on the 25th, confirming his previous note, which he declared was a true and succinct statement of the case.

Mr. Labouchere's final letter was sent on the 26th. In this he praised Mr. Gladstone's long and noble service and hoped that the coming session would show that the radicals did not regret that Mr. Gladstone was premier. Mr. Labouchere expresses regret that he had troubled Mr. Gladstone with a personal matter.

In comments on the letters, Mr. Labouchere says they show that the queen did interfere.

Why is it that some houses always need repainting?

The owner has them painted in the Spring; by Fall they have a dingy, rusty, faded look.

A neighbor's always looks fresh, clean, and newly painted, and yet is not re-painted oftener than every four or five years.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 113,581 bus and from five other western points 1,300,124 bus, aggregate 1,413,705 bus. On the corresponding Wednesday in 1891 the receipts were 1,407,775 bus, but 416,734 bus of it was northwest wheat, leaving, as the movement from the five other western points 990,941 bus, compared with 1,300,-124 bus to-day.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 209,348 bus and flour to an aggregate of 425,000 bus.

English markets are dull and lower for wheat and corn.

Corn seems to have escaped frost for the present, and is doing its level best to produce a fair crop. It can, in no contingency, it now seems, yield more than 1,-700,00 of bushels and it may be less, but will not the low price of wheat and rye, and especially the low grades of each, offer an equivalent for 50c corn that will weaken it? To-day the reports are as conflictin as usual. Prim's report says the crop has lost largely in the week. Another report from 830 points in Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska is encouraging.

Bradstreets' report of the visible supply makes wheat increased 3,245,000 bu.; corn increased 169,000 bu.; oats increased 8,480 bu.

The wheat markets to-day have again ruled lower. On the basis of December at Chicago the price declined 3-4c. The continued large receipts, and the spread of cholera abroad, are the depressing factors to-day. It it officially announced that the cholera has reached Liverpool. At the lowest point of the day Chicago telegraphs a decreased movement of winter wheat in the interior. It is about time, and if the reader will look at our analysis of receipts to-day and for weeks he will see the necessity for a decrease. But if the winter wheat holds up, the new spring will supply its place, and it really looks as though we should have enough to go around, and perhaps a little for export.

There has been some fluctuation to-day, up and down. The price was rallied a little on expected decrease movement, but it did not hold, and the close at Chicago shows a loss of 3-4c.

Corn has been weak and declining all day and has lost 1 1-2c in Chicago.

Foreign markets are also reported closing lower.

In New York, October wheat closed at 80 3-4c, a loss of 7-8c. September corn at 56, a loss of 1 1-2c, October at 56 1-8c, aloss of 3-8c.

In Chicago, September wheat closed at 74 1-2c and October at 75 1-2c, a loss of 3-4c. September corn at 49 1-8c, a loss of 1 1-2c. October at 49 3-4@7-8c, a loss of 1 3-8c. September oats at 34c, a loss of 1-2c.

In Toledo the business in wheat futures has been light and the market, with exception of one little rally of 1-4c, has declined and has been weak. On the regular board opening prices were 3-8 to 1-2c lower and the closing a little lower. September closed 1-2c, October 1-2c and December 5-8c lower.

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS

He Died at His Home in West Brighton.

The Nature of His Fatal Sickness May Never be Known.

New York, Aug. 31.—George Wm. Curtis died at about 2:30 a. m., at his home in West Brighton, Staten Island.

At his bedside were his wife, his unmarried daughter and his son, Dr. F. G. Curtis, of Boston.

Mr. Curtis was conscious up to the last and his death was a very peaceful one.

The nature of Mr. Curtis' disease never has been determined. It was announced some time ago that he was suffering from cancer in the stomach, but the physicians who attended him could not agree that his disease was of a cancerous nature and it was the opinion of a number of them that he suffered from some abnormal growth in the abdomen. It is understood there will be an autopsy.

DO YOU USE TOWELS?

Most people do, and those who like good ones and at the same time wish to buy them cheaply, go to

LAMSONS'.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE WHALE?

For the first time in the history of our country our people have an opportunity to see a real whale. It is anchored at the foot of Adams street, and is on its way to the world's fair. It is really a monster, measuring 65 feet long, weighing 75 tons. The animal's mouth is large enough to receive 25 people at one time. It was captured off Cape Cod, and is the largest ever caught on the American coast.

NEW WORK FOR WATERFALLS

Rome Lighted by Electricity Generated by a Cataract Fifteen Miles Off.

The proposal to light Rome with electricity generated by the Falls of Tivoli has at last been carried into effect, says the London Standard. The Roman of the nineteenth century is not a personage whose aesthetic sense will rebel at making use of the Anio Falls for creating electricity or anything else. Six turbines of 2,000-horse power have been erected, which are capable of driving dynamos generating currents ample not only for lighting up the streets and public buildings, but at a small additional cost admitting of being so increased as to provide illumination for private dwellings also. These currents are carried across the campagna for 15 miles and transformed into currents of lower pressure, at a loss, it is said, of only 20 per cent. of the initial force. Already there are numerous electric railways, electric installation plant, and the like worked by waterfalls, and before long the power which, for millions of years, has been rolling into Lake Ontario will be compelled to earn its livelihood by supplying electricity for many an American town. The problem has, in truth, been fully solved by the company which undertook to transmit power from Lauffen, on the Neckar, over 110 miles of wire to Frankfort.

This is, of course, more than seven times the distance over which the energy of the Anio is to be borne, while the turbines erected at the rapids of the Neckar have not more than a twentieth the power of those at Tivoli. Yet, at Frankfort, three thin copper wires, each less than a quarter of an inch in diameter, yield electricity enough to supply 10,000 glow lamps, or their equivalent, equal to a 60-horse power motor, and an additional number of lamps. By means of special transformers at each end of the line the electrical pressure is raised to the amount, first of 12,000 volts, then to 15,000, and later to 30,000 volts, thereby enabling large powers to be conveyed through comparatively thin wires without the great loss in efficiency which would have occurred at a lower voltage. After three months' trial it was found that the 113-horse power taken out of the Neckar was, at Frankfort, 110 miles away, still efficient. In spite of all possible sources of loss, to the amount of over 72 per cent. The American electricians promise to carry 1,000-horse power force from Niagara to the Chicago exhibition, and already electric transmission has supplanted rope transmission at Schaffhausen. It is, in short, evident that we are yet at the mere outset of this new departure in engineering and that in the near future a waterfall may be more valuable property than a gold mine, and the grime and smoke and tall chimneys now characteristic of a manufacturing town will be unknown. It may also be that the tides which now idly fling themselves on the beach will be yoked to a turbine and dynamo in the service of humanity.

MRS. M'GINTY.

Allow me the extreme pleasure of introducing to you Mrs. McGinty. She is very interesting to those who receive her kindly. This is one way of preparing her for a fair. Take a penny clay pipe, file down the little part that projects between the bowl and stem even with the bowl. Then on the bowl mark the hair, eyes, eyebrows, nose, mouth and ears, with hoop earrings. For the clothes, you want a sheet each of green and white tissue paper, and a small piece of pink paper for her bonnet. Cut a large circle of green and pink; put the pink inside the green, and fold the paper neatly over the mouth of the bowl, leaving the largest half out the top. Then tie a string around it, about one inch from the mouth of the bowl. Tie a piece of scarlet baby ribbon over that. Now take half a sheet of white paper, fold double lengthwise, and six and one-half inches wide. Sew the seam. Put the seam on the outside. Crease well around the top, taking the part that is folded for the bottom, and put around the waist. Do the green same way, putting the seam on the back and on inside. Tie the same way. Take a little piece of stiff white paper, and make a piccadilly collar. Pin tightly around the neck. Then cut a square piece of white paper for the shawl. —Home Queen.

Don't buy a blood purifier because it is "cheap." The best—the Superior Medicine—Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is, in the end, the cheapest blood purifier in the market. The ingredients of which it is composed are the most expensive and medicinally efficacious that can be obtained.

AN ASTONISHING TRICK.

Exhibit to the spectators a glass full of alchohol and a silk hat full of wadding which has been drawn through the fingers so that the fibers have been separated to make it occupy as much space as possible. Tell the audience that you are going to put all that wadding into the glass without making the liquid overflow. To do this take the wadding up in small locks at a time and put it into the liquid, which will rapidly absorb. Pack it down progressively at the bottom of the glass, and to the great surprise of the spectators you will have performed the experiment announced, and which you may style "A hatful of wadding in a glass of alchol." This property of wadding of absorbing alcohol has been utilized in the manufacture of spirit lamps that may be upset without a single drop of their liquid escaping.

H. N. Griffith, of Dungeness, Ore., had an exciting adventure with a panther the other day. He was returning from McDonald's creek, and when near Harry Hoffman's place a panther attacked the dog with him. At first he thought it was another dog, but on discovering it to be a panther he put a bullet into him with a 32-calibre rifle he carried with him, breaking his back. The panther then left the dog and started for him, but another shot settled the animal, and his scalp now adorns Mr. Griffith's cabin.

Francis J. Kelly, of Pittsburg, has the reputation of being the tallest newspaper man in America. Mr. Kelly is almost seven feet high. He has seen life in many varied phases, having served in the British army, squatted in Australia, and traveled twice around the world. His first experience in America consisted in running a locomotive out of New York. Subsequently he acted as press agent to the Irish cricket team, and thence drifted into newspaper work.

BAD SKIN ERUPTION

Many Years—All Manner of Medicines and Doctors Fail—Cured in One Month By Cuticura.

In 1885 I had an eruption come out on my skin, and while at first it did not amount to much, it grew to be very aggravating and at times unbearable. The skin would get hard, inflamed, and peel off, leaving an entire new skin, acting same way for weeks at a time, always worse at nights. Have tried all manner of medicines and had doctors prescribe to no effect. I bought a box of CUTICURA REMEDIES and used CUTICURA RESOLVENT for my blood. I am fully cured, and in less than a month. It was a most aggravating skin disease, and now I am enjoying ease and comfort. I have had untold benefits. Anyone trying CUTICURA REMEDIES cannot help but derive benefit. Anyone writing me will receive an answer and my advice to give your REMEDIES a trial. A. B. PATTON,

Manager Postal Telegraph-Cable Co., Garden City, Kansas.

Doctor Uses Cuticura.

We have opened a drug store at this place and are having a splendid sale on CUTICURA REMEDIES, which we keep a full stock of. I would not be without your CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP for $500, just for the benefit it did my little boy. When he was six months old, his face was covered with eczema, and CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it. He is now three years old. We still use the CUTICURA SOAP, and wash him occasionally with it, to prevent his skin from getting rough. We have handled your medicines for five years, and never heard a complaint against them, but abundant praise. We sold our drug store in Kansas, and will continue in the drug business here.

THE FIRST BICYCLE

I ever saw was really a velocipede, for so they were called in those days. Some man brought one up to West Point, oh, ever so many years ago. He rode it over the plain, wheeling about like a bird, we all thought, and then down past the barracks where all the cadets live. They watched him out of the windows, but the moment the bugle sounded, and they could leave their quarters, thick and fast as crows swarming down on fields they poured out of the barracks and crowded about this man.

I do not believe he had ever known such a moment in his life before. He was the hero of the hour, almost like a man who might have come down from the moon or out of the heart of some strange land of wonder. For nobody there had ever seen a velocipede before. This, indeed, was the first one to penetrate that quiet spot.

But now, as you know, the velocipede has become a bicycle, a much more wonderful affair as it seems to me, though nobody any longer wonders about it. And now, too, as I think I told you before, the bicycle itself is to be a part of the army appointments. When people first heard of this they laughed and shrugged their shoulders and said "the idea." But they have tried it in the armies abroad and the other day Gen. Nelson A. Miles used it so send a message from Chicago to Gen. Howard, who is at Governor's Island. Gen. Miles did this by way of experiment. But what a journey it was, through mud and rain and water, waist-deep sometimes. Some of you might have seen the riders arrive or going through the streets. They came in on the 23d of May. Nine miles an hour they rode. Had you seen them, however, what would you have thought? In a great city one is so apt to think the wrong thing about people one sees when nobody is about to explain. So you might have wondered why such muddy men were abroad in daylight instead of saying there go some brave fellows. Which makes me believe it is just as well always to think the best thing, for one is a great deal surer to be right.

The smallest, simplest and best protected postoffice in the world is in the Straits of Magellan, and has been there for many years. It consists of a small, painted keg or cask, and is chained to the rocks of the extreme cape in a manner so that it floats free, opposite Terra del Fuego. Each passing ship sends a boat to take letters out and put others in. This curious postoffice is unprovided with a postmaster, and is, therefore, under the protection of all the navies of the world. Never in the history of this unique "office" has its privilege been disturbed.

The year of the greatest growth in boys is the seventeenth; in girls, the fourteenth. While girls reach full height in their fifteenth year, they acquire full weight at the age of 20. Boys are stronger than girls from birth to the eleventh year; then girls become superior physically to the seventeenth year, when the tables are again turned and remain so. From November to April children grow very little and gain no weight; from April to July they gain in height, but lose in weight, and from July to November they increase greatly in weight, but not in height.

The Last Rose of Summer
SOON TO BE PLUCKED.

The last bit of summer selling soon to be accomplished—much to do in the few remaining summer days—that we may be ready for the avalanche of New Goods now being bought and arriving.

Mr. Bamber is East buying heavily.

Mr. McKelvey is in New York hurrying along his large purchase of Fall and Winter Wraps and Suits.

Mr. Drummond is in New York carefully looking through the market for the best things in Linens, White Goods, Blankets, Flannel and other Fabrics that he buys.

Mr. Fisher with able assistants is constantly in the markets. Buying more than a million Dollars of Dry Goods each year as he does—it is easy to understand that we possess many advantages over those who buy in a small way.

A Week of Final Reductions in Every Department—all over the House.
